Quick Pursuit Lands Holdup in Custody Within One Hour of Robbery

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff

BURBANK, Nov. 5.—Captured by a film cop at Universal City shortly before noon today, a man identified as Lee Cordes, is in the Los Angeles county jail this afternoon charged with robbing the Burbank state bank of $2600 in currency.

At 10:25 o'clock he walked up to M. J. Kurten, a teller in the institution, and presented him two counter checks of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank with the following message appended:

Text of Threat

"Don't look at me once, but hand out all big bills you have and be dam careful not to let anyone in here see you or I will blow your dam brains out. Slip the bunches of bills to me carefully. Turn your back to me and if you turn around before I get out will put a hole through you and I will give my buddy the money, so if him or me gets caught you die, for I will stay outside 30 minutes, so if the alarm before 30 min. I'll get you."

Cleverly concealed in the overcoat which the bandit carried was a glistening steel revolver which was visible to the teller. Needless to say, he complied with the demand. As soon as the robber stepped out of the door Kurten called to W. J. Riley, president of the bank, that the place had been robbed.

DESTROYER WRECK TRIALS LAUNCHED

Flotilla Commander First to Face Court-Martial for Navy Disaster

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 5.—Courts-martial of the eleven high naval officers charged with responsibility for the Point Honda disaster—the worst in the war or peace time history of the American navy—got under way here at 10 o'clock this morning.

Captain E. H. Watson, son of an American admiral of Civil war fame, and himself possessing a spotless record of 33 years' service as an officer in the navy, was first placed on trial. Captain Watson was in command of the squadron and it was he who personally gave the fatal premature order for change of course which sent seven crack destroyers to their doom with the loss of 23 lives of bluejackets, he testified previously at the court of inquiry.

Call First Witness

Lieutenant-Commander George L. Wild, squadron communication officer, who was stationed on the flagship Delphy with Captain Watson, was the first witness called by the prosecution. He told of the receipt of radio compass bearings from the Point Arguello land station—correct reports which the Delphy navigators believed incorrect, and the ignoring of which was one of the primary causes of the catastrophe.

Commander Donald T. Hunter, captain of the Delphy, and who, with Lieutenant Lawrence Blodgett, also of the flagship, conferred as navigators with Captain Watson and agreed upon the position of the squadron and the disastrous change of course landward, followed Lieutenant Commander Wild on the stand, being called by the prosecution.

Accused Testify

To a civilian the procedure of the court-martial appeared strange, since the prosecution has without ado called as material witnesses the very officers who are in turn to be court-martialed. Hunter and Blodgett, witnesses against Watson, are themselves with Watson charged with "culpable inefficiency, negligence and unskillful seamanship."

The other eight officers to be court-martialed are charged with negligence in navigating their vessels.

Vice-Admiral Henry A. Wiley, president of the court, said this morning that in his opinion it will take two or three weeks to dispose of the cases, each defendant being individually tried.

GREAT SHOW FOR FIRE RELIEF

Programs Will Be Sold by Film Luminaries Tomorrow Night

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

Never in all the colorful history of Glendale has such a galaxy of world-famous stars been concentrated under one roof, in one night, on one stage, as the rising curtain tomorrow night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse will reveal to a packed auditorium of local residents supplemented by guests from Pasadena, Eagle Rock, Burbank, Hollywood, Los Angeles and other nearby points.

Of the hundreds of tickets, there are but a very limited number remaining, reports Commander Chalmer D. Day of the local American Legion post, chairman of the ticket committee. These are now on sale only at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, 150 South Brand boulevard, where they will be available until 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, if not disposed of before.

Theme of Heroism

"They might have been yours," is the theme of a beautiful drawing by the celebrated artist, F. Grayson Sayre, appearing on the official program of the monster benefit. And under the drawing appears the Following:

Glendale's Tribute of Heartfelt Sympathy to the Families of Clarence Edwards and Joseph W. McGahan Heroes of The Verdugo Hills Fire Saturday, October 13, 1923 "They Gave Their Lives to Save Our Homes"

Twenty-two Star Show

A total of twenty-two famous stars appear on the program, which will be opened by a brief address of welcome by Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale, preceded by an overture by A. M. Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra. The program will then be turned over to Lionel Belmore, who will present the following, each in a special act:

Will Rogers, monologuist and rope artist; George Melford, director; Louise Dresser, well known film star, and her husband, Jack Gardner, dramatic screen and stage actor, residents of Glendale; Jacqueline Logan, charming feminine lead; Mishel, "the boy wonder"; Buck Jones, noted broncho busting star; Clara Kimball Young, beautiful film favorite; Ruth Roland, moving picture actress and vaudeville star; Lucille Cavanah, talented dancer; Wanda Hawley, moving picture actress and vocalist; Herbert Rawlinson, featured film actor; William Desmond, popular in western films; Milton Sills, film star and clever speaker; Ernest Torrence, film actor popular in society parts; Lew Cody, film actor, "the perfect lover" of the films; Hedda Hopper, character actress of the films; Agnes Ayres, beautiful film star; Arthur Stuart Hull, well known film actor; Viola Dana, beautiful and popular film actress; Shirley Mason, equally as beautiful and talented as her sister, Viola Dana.

Bill Hart Sends $25

William S. Hart would have been among this list of celebrities had it not been for good and sufficient reasons, which he explains in the following letter to Louise Dresser:

"It is with the keenest regret that I am obliged to say that I cannot appear Tuesday evening. I'm working night and day to get a picture finished and I'm all bunged up with a cold so that I really ought to be in bed.

"I am enclosing check for $25 for one seat. I'm sorry that I cannot be there as I understand Will Rogers is going to talk, and Bill is some talker."

"Sincerely yours,
"BILL HART.

Heart of Glacier Explored by Kirk During Swiss Tour

Switzerland, the republic that is a composite of three nationalities, is described in the W. B. Kirk travel letter today. This is the second letter the Glendale Evening News readers have had from Mr. Kirk from Switzerland and they will be interested in his continued travels in Helvetia.

W. B. KIRK

He writes from: "Lugano, Suisse. The republic we call Switzerland is a composite of three nationalities. It is the old Helvetia, which we used to struggle with in trying to dig out a translation of 'Caesar,' and it still uses this name on its money and stamps. Its official documents use the three languages.

"The French name for the country is La Suisse or Suisse; the German is Die Schweitz or Schweitz; and the Italian is Svizzera (pronounced Switzera). I think the French have impressed their name more than the others on the country as a whole, but the Germans have the best of it in the matter of language signs on the stores, newspapers, etc. Naturally the people in the section nearer the larger country are more largely of that stock and use the language of that country more generally.

"It speaks wonders for the character of the Swiss that during the war they were able to 'dwell together in unity' and to remain a neutral nation with a harmonious entity.

"We pulled ourselves away from Montreux on Thursday morning (Sept. 27), taking electric train to Interlaken. Did you know that many of these mountain lines in Suisse operate by electricity? It surely works fine in the steady pull up grade, and the absence of smoke in the tunnels is much appreciated. The coaches are luxurious. We climbed around and around, up and up, above Montreux, so that we had wondrous views of city, lake and mountain, then along the sides of the mountains, above rushing streams, where every turn in the road revealed new vistas of beauty.

"Going through these mountain sections we had a chance to see the Swiss chalet in its natural setting, the slopes and hill sides being dotted with them, and with here and there a village. Some of our chalets are very like them. Of course their houses are not all of the chalet type; some are plain and others are more like bungalows.

Lots of Boarding Houses

"At every cross road is one or more hotels or 'pensions' (boarding houses or hotels with board at a fixed price). The country is literally filled with them. All the countries of Europe are 'strong' for eats and drinks. Their idea of restoration they spell on these buildings 'restauration.' If they are as good at resting as they are at restaurating, they surely will soon be all right. Suisse, especially, is a country full of these places. The tour-

Warbling Mayor and Musical Glendalians Stir Hill Folks' Humor

By F. A. GRAHAM
Of the Evening News Staff

Well, the warbling executive and other musical Glendalians certainly stepped out and treated the Verdugo hill folk, as well as the rest of the world, to some harmonious ozone Friday night. Returns from outlying precincts are still coming in.

Many a man who demands silence from his barber, wife and even his conscience, stayed awake listening to Mayor Robinson yodeling for his "breakfast buckwheats."

Many a walrus has been fed for making less noise.

A radio party was given in Tujunga by resident graduates of the Husbands' College of Listening.

Tujunga flappers were entranced. One took off the headset long enough to sigh, "I could listen to that voice until I got cauliflower ears."

If that isn't sheiking 'em by wireless, then cabbage never was introduced to corned beef.

Late reports from KFI say the microphone complained that the yodeler stepped up to meet it with his hair parted on the wrong side. And one love-lorn La Crescenta maiden started the rumor that a special marcel wave had been installed for the occasion. A careful canvass of Glendale beauty shops failed to reveal a clew, however.

Maeterlinck's Blue Bird must have been violating the eight-hour law, laying eggs in Glendale. Others may persuade radio sets to talk, but the boss warbler makes 'em answer back.

One thing the radio voters are thankful for—that is the mayor's platform has no Mammy plank. Mammy singers have wrecked listener's theories of ward politics.

Mayor opened the program by starting to talk and broadcasted fact that he was nervous. That made it unanimous.

Then he sang an encore without applause. How come? As Wilmot Parcher, Glendale's first mayor, now leading an honest life in Tujunga, might have said, "Imagine a mayor, destitute of hirsute adornment, warbling, 'Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes.' 'Twas not so in my day."

Cam Thom is right. At home or abroad, some people continually think of food or drink. Kirk, for instance.

Right after the drinking song Bill Bode saxophoned "Regrets" and "Fond Recollections." Was it coincidence or prearranged for benefit of the Plantation?

* * *

Mrs. Freeman sang "Goodbye," but the insinuation fell on barren soil. Lest we be sued for libel, be it known the foregoing is not a veiled allusion to bald heads.

Also, Miss Dagley recited, "An Old Fashioned Town." H-m-m. Guess the publicity committee of the Cast No Aspersions society better investigate to determine if there was anything personal in her remarks.

S'all right. The rest of the program was pretty fair, too.

ITALY URGES FRANCE TO ACQUIESCE

Reparations Parley Is Vital Rome Wires Paris, Aiding America's Plan

ROME, Nov. 5.—Italy today sent a note to Paris insisting upon an agreement for an immediate convening of an international committee of reparations experts. Italy pointed out the serious consequences that might result from delay, with the damaging results, that might accrue from discouraging the United States through insistence upon technicalities.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Notwithstanding evidences of cordial support from Great Britain, Belgium and Italy, there was only deepest pessimism in Washington today concerning the fate of America's latest proposal to help Europe through the agency of a new reparations conference.

"France still blocks the way," was the only official comment obtainable this morning on Premier Poincare's Sunday utterances, in which he revealed that the French government has not receded an inch in the obstinate stand it has taken toward the proposed conference.

It remains to be seen whether French opposition to this new move to determine how much reparations Germany is capable of paying can withstand the combined pressure of Britain, Belgium, Italy and the United States, to whose help in 1917-18 France owes her commanding position on the continent today. The fate of

Rip Clothing Off Money Lenders; Demand Ebert and Stresemann Quit

PARIS, Nov. 5.—German separatists from Coblenz have occupied the public buildings of Kaiserlautern, Bergzabern, Kirchheim and Gemersheim, proclaiming a Rhenish palatinate republic under protection of the German Reich, according to a Dusseldorf dispatch to L'Intransigeant this afternoon.

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—Bloodless disorders broke out in Berlin today. They centered in front of the stock exchange, where hungry rioters directed their fury against possessors of foreign money. Men accused as profiteers were attacked and their clothes torn from their backs. They were badly beaten.

Enraged groups in the poorer quarters stoned small stores and pawn shops. Money changers suspected of profiteering in exchange of foreign money were attacked. Their clothing was ripped to pieces in hope of finding valuable foreign currency or gold.

Police closed the money changers' "curb market." It was reported that the stock exchange might be closed also.

The entire nationalist press united today in a "drum fire attack" against Chancellor Gustav Stresemann, whom they want displaced by a nationalist dictator. They also demand the resignation of President Ebert because he is a socialist.

President Ebert, more than any other individual, has the fate of Germany in his hands.

Stresemann Shows Teeth

Chancellor Stresemann announced that if he cannot get a majority of the reichstag to support him, he will rule without a parliament, which means he

STOKES SUIT IN FINAL STAGES

Husband's Attorney Presents Testimony to Prove Guilt of Wife

By JACK CARBERRY
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—William Earl Dodge Stokes, 73-year-old millionaire, again took the offensive today in his suit for divorce against his pretty young wife, Helen Elwood Stokes.

Samuel Untermyer, Mrs. Stokes' counsel, rested his case at 10:30 o'clock today and Max D. Steuer, rival attorney, began presenting rebuttal testimony in a final effort to convince the jury the titian-haired defendant had been intimate with Edgar T. Wallace of San Francisco, the "man in the case."

Frank A. Murphy, formerly a steward on H. W. McCornick's yacht, was the first rebuttal witness. He swore he say Mrs. Stokes on the yacht in 1911, before she married Stokes.

McCornick, testifying for Mrs. Stokes, said he had never seen her before the present trial and that she had not been on his yacht.

Stokes Paid Him $70

Untermyer hammered Murphy hard and he admitted that Stokes had paid him $70 instead of $20 for his day's work in outlining his testimony.

He said he had not seen Mrs. Stokes since 1910, but was sure of his identification.

Carrie Jones, a negro niece of Martha Jones, the Wallace maid, said she had been told by her aunt that Mrs. Stokes visited the Wallace apartment. Martha Jones had testified for Mrs. Stokes, saying she had never seen Mrs. Stokes except in the courtroom.

At the end of the direct examination, Untermyer demanded that Hattie Johnson, Stokes' negro detective, be ejected from the courtroom, charging she was coaching the witness on the stand.

Steuer protested loudly, but Justice Mahoney ordered her from the room.

The woman wore a large cross on a gold chain. She had been holding this in her hand, moving it in a circle, then up and down and sideways.

The Jones woman then volunteered she, too, had seen Mrs. Stokes in Wallace's apartment. She placed the time between Christmas, 1915, and New Year's.

Girl Defies Big Interests in Fight for Better Transportation Facilities

By ROBT. S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 5.—Facing six railroads, a few chambers of commerce and some farmers' organizations, all of whom have sworn to put her Red Ball Transportation company out of business, Miss Helen Schultz, the bus line queen of the Middle West, is in the battle of her life.

Alone—one small, wavy haired girl of twenty-three, against corporations representing millions of dollars — Miss Schultz "pooh pooed" the idea that the railroads would "get her."

Likes to Fight

"I like a fight when the odds aren't too great against me," she said.

And Miss Schultz implied that six railroads, including mere lines like the Chicago & Northwestern, Chicago Great Northern and the Rock Island & Pacific, didn't constitute sufficient odds to make her tremble over the result.

The move against Miss Schultz has been taken before the Iowa Railroad commission, the legal powers of the rich railway lines having opened a campaign to prove the Red Ball Transportation company is not essential to the public service.

Cuts Into Business

The Red Ball, it seems, has been making serious inroads on the business of the steam lines,

Schedules Made Public for Four Routes Traversed by Motorbusses

Starting tomorrow morning, November 6, the Pacific Electric company will put into operation two new Glendale cross town bus lines, according to announcement of D. W. Pontius, vice president and general manager of the system, while the present line serving the Cypress-Adams district will be materially extended.

Three of the latest type Pacific Electric busses, with a seating capacity of twenty-five persons each, will be added to the company's three busses now operating in this city, this morning stated J. A. Birmingham, manager of the motor bus service of the company. These new busses are the product of the Moreland Truck company, a Glendale-Burbank concern.

With the three lines that will be in operation from tomorrow on, Glendale will have a thorough bus service from the business center to all outlying districts, in the opinion of Mr. Birmingham, who states that a 6-cent fare will be charged, with the option of purchasing ten tickets for 50 cents, and that transfers will be issued interchangeable between electric cars and busses, within the 6-cent fare limits.

The Cypress-Adams line, as will be seen from the complete new schedules appearing below, has been extended to Verdugo road, while busses of this line will no longer traverse Pacific avenue, it being felt that this avenue will be adequately served by the Cypress-San Fernando line.

Service of from twenty minutes to a half hour will be instituted at present, as the schedules show, with all last busses at night connecting with the midnight trains out of Los Angeles. The service will be increased later as business warrants, states Mr. Birmingham.

The 6-cent limits wherein transfers are effective are defined as Burchett street on the north, San Fernando road on the south, Broadway and Verdugo road on the east, and San Fernando road on the west. A fare of 10 cents will apply to and from points of

Editor Denies Ever Casting Aspersions on Family of Bovine Foe

FERTILE, Iowa, Nov. 5.—The story of an editor who, wags insist, got a dose of his own medicine is told here at the expense of E. E. Brown, editor of the local newspaper.

Editor Brown was placidly manipulating his shears, pastepot and pencil, attired, as was his custom, in a flaming red shirt, when he was suddenly confronted by a black-polled Angus bull.

The bull, who entered the city early in the day and amused himself for a time by chasing pedestrians and attacking automobiles, happened to be passing Brown's office. He saw the red shirt.

The bull charged the editoral room. Failing to reach the editor, he tried to climb in the window. He pawed, roared and used his horns, until driven off by the editor's faithful hound dog.

"I've labored at the newspaper game for some thirty years," Brown remarked. "To the best of my knowledge I've never written a word in disparagement of the bovine family. I can't comprehend the bull's motive."

Artist Speaker

Frederick Alfred Leekney, a Russian sculptor, painter and interior decorator, was the speaker at the meeting held Sunday in the public library by the Glendale Art association of which Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh is president.

Mr. Leekney gave a talk on "Art in the Far East" which he illustrated with a collection of pictures showing temples of the east, Tibetian monasteries and many other interesting subjects. He has spent many years in the Orient collecting these paintings.

Mrs. Ballagh announces these lectures are open to the public and the club members extend a cordial invitation to all Glendalians interested in art to attend the meetings which occur the first and third Sundays of each month at the Glendale public library. Mrs. Ballagh states it is the aim of the association to make Glendale one of the art centers of California and to help maintain artists so they will not have to sacrifice or commercialize their art.

Sin's Discovery Sure, Says Rev. Scheideman

Preaching from the text, "Be Sure Your Sins Will Find You Out," Numbers 32:23, Rev. Henry Scheideman cited many instances from the Bible to drive this truth home, during his sermon at the First Nazarene church Sunday evening.

"People may think they can commit sin," said Reverend Scheideman, "and then cover it up, but they can't hide it from God." Then he proceeded to tell of different characters in the Old and New Testaments who thought they could sin and cover it up from God, but were later found out.

Reverend John Hatfield, the "Hoosier Evangelist," was present at the afternoon service and made a few remarks. He will speak at the First Nazarene church Tuesday evening, November 6, at 7:30.

The Friday night meeting will be held at the Glendale Auto camp on San Fernando road.

RATTLER FOILED BY TERRIER PUP

Dog Stands Between Babe and Snake, Escapes Unhurt From Fangs

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Nov. 5.—How the life of their year-old son, Walter, was saved from death when attacked by a rattlesnake through the efforts of "Tige," a six-months'-old terrier pup, was told here recently by Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Jatsek, of Roundup. According to the parents the dog stood between the baby and the snake when the rattler attacked the child at the Jatsek ranch, near Roundup.

Three times the snake sprang at the baby, according to Mrs. Jatsek who stood nearby, too terrified for the moment to rescue her son. On each attack the small dog stepped in the direction of the rattlesnake. The terrier was bitten three times, but its hair-covered skin was believed to have prevented the rattler from injecting its deadly poison fang into the animal.

Mrs. Jatsek finally ran forward and rescued the baby. The dog showed no ill effects from its encounter with the reptile.

According to Mrs. Jatsek the baby was not afraid of the rattler, and once when he attempted to approach closer to the snake "Tige" snapped at him, frightening the boy so that he retreated to safety.

Later in the day the snake was found near the house and was killed by Jatsek. Eight large rattles, taken from the snake's "tail," will be mounted on a leather strap as soon as "Tige" is large enough to wear a dog collar.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"If Winter Comes," long expected photodrama version of the famous A. S. M. Hutchinson novel of that name, carried audiences of the Glendale Theatre to the pinnacles of delight at its opening yesterday. Meticulous attention to details on the part of Harry Millarde, director, is largely responsible for the smashing success of this elaborate and costly production.

Others responsible for making "If Winter Comes" one of the year's outstanding pictures are those in the well-balanced cast: Percy Marmont, Ann Forrest, Russell Sedgwick, Leslie King, James Ten Brook, Virginia Lee, Eugenie Woodward and Wallace Kolb, among others.

The Christ-like character of Mark Sabre dominates "If Winter Comes," which teaches a powerful lesson and has elicited unstinted praise from clergymen all over the country. It is a clean story, by the author of "The Happy Warrior" and "The Clean Heart."

LOOK TO CHRIST, URGES PASTOR

Rev. W. E. Edmonds Says No Other Name Under Which to Save

The morning service yesterday of the Glendale Presbyterian church was held in the Glendale theatre. The pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, took for his sermon theme, "A Bridal and a Birth." The thought was based on John 2:11 and 3:3, 7. The speaker said that the second chapter of John is a bridal scene and the third chapter a cradle scene.

"Both scenes suggest life," he said. "The wine pictures the life that runs out, the birth the life that never ends, everlasting life. The cry of Mary, the mother of Jesus, was 'They have no wine.' The wine of earth runs out, the waters of earth fail. Then the Master comes. Man's extremity is God's opportunity. In response to the word of Christ the water becomes wine. The giver of life has imparted life. Let us believe this and believing we have life through His name. Physical life comes through a birth and so do the spiritual and eternal.

"First, the fact of it. 'Ye must be born again.' The how of everything is mysterious. The must be is plain. I do not know how fire burns, but I know it must burn if a world is warmed. I do not know how corn and cotton grow, but I know they must if a world is fed and clothed.

Christ Said So

"I do not know how taking food makes blood and gives strength, but I know it must be if we are to live. I do not know how we are born again, but I know it must be if we are ever to get to heaven. Christ said so. The Master's statement smashed to pieces all Nicodemus' old ideas. Amazed and dazed he said, 'How can a man be born when he is old?' Don't marvel, for since you cannot tell of the comings and goings of the wind, how can you expect to understand the new birth?

"Second, the mystery of it. Jesus does not attempt to explain it. It is a mystery. Life is always a mystery. Birth is always a mystery. Spiritual birth is a mystery. You know it comes but the how of it is hidden with God. Don't try to go into the secrets of regeneration. Look at Jesus by faith and while you look the change will occur.

There's No Substitute

"Third, the necessity of it. 'Ye must be born again.' There is no substitute or alternative here. The reason? The old nature is under a curse. It must die. Salvation takes you to the cross and nails you there with Christ. You die with Him to all guilt and sin. The sinful heart must be executed. The reason you are a justified man is because you are not now the man who sinned. The man who sinned is dead. You are born again and are now identified with Him and risen with Him. 'Ye must be born again.'

"The great principle is that it is a new life. It is not culture or improvement or evolution, but a new birth and life. We must be born into the society of heaven. You cannot be educated into it or learn its language wtihout the new birth.

"The new birth is not merely getting religion. Nicodemus was religious. Man is incurably religious. But apart from the new birth his soul is lost in spite of his religion. It is not a new religion but a new heart, and that is only possible through regeneration.

"Jesus Christ does make a wonderful explanation, 'as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness even so must the Son of Man be lifted up.' They who looked upon this serpent of brass were healed. Christ says, 'Look unto me and be ye saved all ye ends of the earth.' We must not expect salvation by looking at the church or its ordinances. They are simply the poles. We must look to Christ for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby ye must be saved."

'MAN WHO FORGOT' IS SERMON THEME

Wealthy Men Overlook Day of Reckoning, Declares Rev. L. C. Kline

"One great fault of wealthy men of today," stated Rev. Leo C. Kline, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church, in his sermon last evening, "is that most of them forget that there is to be a reckoning day when they will be called upon to give a detailed account of their stewardship."

Taking for his text the twenty-first verse of the twelfth chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke, he confined his remarks to the subject, "The Men Who Forgot."

The Rich Fool

He said in part: "This man is sometimes spoken of as 'The Rich Fool'. Jesus says that God called him a fool, 'Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee'. Why was he a fool? Not because he was wealthy. Not because of the way in which he had obtained his wealth. But because of his attitude toward it and the use he made of it.

"His attitude was purely selfish. He thought of his wealth only from the standpoint of the pleasure he could derive from it. He lacked a social consciousness. There was too much self-love and not enough self-respect. There was no self-condemnation because there had been no self-examination. He is of that type, which having obtained half the world, would not be satisfied until the other half was in his grasp. This man also failed to distinguish between the soul and the body, the spiritual and the material. He thought the soul could be satisfied with things which are purely material.

Overlooked God

"His chief fault was that he forgot. He failed to remember that he was a steward only. The goods which he claimed as his own were simply entrusted to his care for a short time. He forgot that time was not his. He thought he had many years, but he had only a few hours to live. He forgot that life was not his. God gave it to him and God reserved the right to claim it at any time. His one great mistake was that he forgot to reckon with God at all. He forgot that every man shall give account of himself before God for property, time and life itself. 'What shall it profit a man though he gain the whole world and lose his soul, or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?'"

'Judgment' Is Theme of Kringle's Sermon

A vivid portrayal of the scene to be enacted on Judgment day was drawn by Rev. Henry O. Kringle, pastor of the Zion Lutheran congregation, in his sermon yesterday. He also touched at some length on the methods to be employed that day in dispensing divine justice. He took as his theme "Judgment."

"The grandest event in the history of mankind is going to be the day of judgment," said Rev. Kringle. "For the first time, all inhabitants, not only of one, but of more than hundreds of successive generations will be assembled. For many thousands of square miles will this sea of humanity extend before the throne of glory, for not one will be missing, be he beggar or king. The judgment over this vast assembly, although short, will satisfy the most exacting demand of divine justice. Not a sin will be overlooked. And as this decision falls, whether for heaven or hell, so will it stand forever and ever, world without end.

"The means by which the world will be judged will be Christ's word of Scriptures. 'He that believeth in Christ is not condemned, but he that believeth not is condemned already'."

C. of C. Collects Data on City's Industries

As a part of the program launched by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to foster the establishment of additional industries in Glendale, a questionnaire has been sent out to all the factories that are already in operation here, about seventy in number, asking for complete data regarding payrolls, the number of persons employed, annual production, and also requesting suggestions relative to any other lines that would aid the present industries if they could be secured for Glendale.

This information will all be kept confidential, but the data obtained will be assembled by the industrial survey committee and will form the basis of the campaign that is under consideration to establish a separate industrial department in the Chamber of Commerce.

Nominations for C. C. Directors Coming in Nominating petitions for the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, which will hold its annual election on November 27, are reaching the office of Secretary E. F. Sanders daily. Secretary Sanders points out that, as the regular date for closing the nominations will be November 12, which will be observed as Armistice day, a general holiday, nominating petitions must all be in his hands by the evening of Saturday, November 10.

Illusions without foundation instead of bringing glory will act as pall-bearers.

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

SORROW PURIFIES HEART, IS CLAIM

Tears Are Universal Tongue Understood Throughout World, Says Pastor

The large audience of the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning gave close attention as Dr. Henry I. Rasmus, the pastor, preached a consolatory sermon from the text found in Revelation. 7th chapter, 17th verse: "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes."

"The question is often raised," said Dr. Rasmus, "as to whether or not the world shall ever have a universal language, a time when we shall understand each other in universal terms. It is a question that no one can positively answer. We can only conjecture. But God, through nature, has provided a common language that all can read in the beauty of the flowers, the brilliancy of the stars, the majesty of the mountains. Likewise, sin has a tongue that everyone knows as it blights and sears and ruins.

Language of Tears

"So, also, have tears a language that is universally recognized and understood the world over. The chemist has told us that a tear is a composition of water, salt and lime. But a tear is far more than that. It is the outward evidence of a hidden emotion, the stirring of a bitter memory, the witness of a broken hope, the cry of a scarred and weary heart.

What Use for Tears?

"What is the use of tears? Why not always laughter, a continuous unfolding of joy? No hearse to back up to the front door. But tears have their use. Theirs is a beautiful ministry. Just as the nightingale sings her sweetest melody in the night time, so in the midst of sorrow and tears is the soul purified and the heart chants its sweetest note divine. This is the great eternal truth of human history.

"Three times our Divine Master gave Himself to tears. The first time was a record of sympathy. Called to the home of His dearest friends, the home of Lazarus and his sisters, Mary and Martha, He weeps with them in their distress and then calls forth Lazarus from the tomb. The world needs the note of sympathy. Think of the bereaved hearts and darkened homes made so by the great world war and more recently the disasters in Japan. Nothing so comforting and cheering as the tear of a friend. Perhaps there is someone that you can help here in Glendale.

Weeps for Jerusalem

"The second time on record that Christ wept was over Jerusalem. As He looked over this city there were awakened pleasant memories and His mind dwelt on her past sacred history. Then as He remembered how she had stoned God's prophets and was planning His death He cried out "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem! how oft would I have gathered thee as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings but ye would not."

Our great cities are centers of crime and whirlpools of iniquity. Greed and gain and lust are busy at work. We would almost despair if it were not for Christ's words, "Be ye of good cheer, I have overcome the world." The world is also in need of tears of repentance to turn men's hearts to God.

The third record of Christ's tears are his intercessory tears. The books of intercessory tears have never been written, and never will be this side of heaven. They have changed the destiny of the world and swung it on its hinges in the right direction. A tear on the cheek of the infant Moses moved the heart of the Egyptian princess and preserved the life of the future great emancipator. Queen Esther's tears brought success to her entreaties for her Jewish race and set aside the law of the Medes and the Persians.

"Who has not felt the influence of tears in our interest? Our great advocate, Christ, has shed tears in our behalf and this truth should cause us to open our hearts to Him. Some day every cause for tears will cease 'For God shall wipe away all tears from our eyes.'"

Livingston Preaches on 'Leanness of Soul'

"Leanness of Soul" was the subject chosen by Rev. J. C. Livingston for his address at the Sunday morning service at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church. He also touched upon California atmosphere, in a spiritual sense. The choir rendered an anthem, "Fear Not, O Land," with solo parts sung by John W. Cotton and Mrs. Robert D. Jones.

The subject of the sermon at evening service was "Had He Bid Thee Do Some Great Thing."

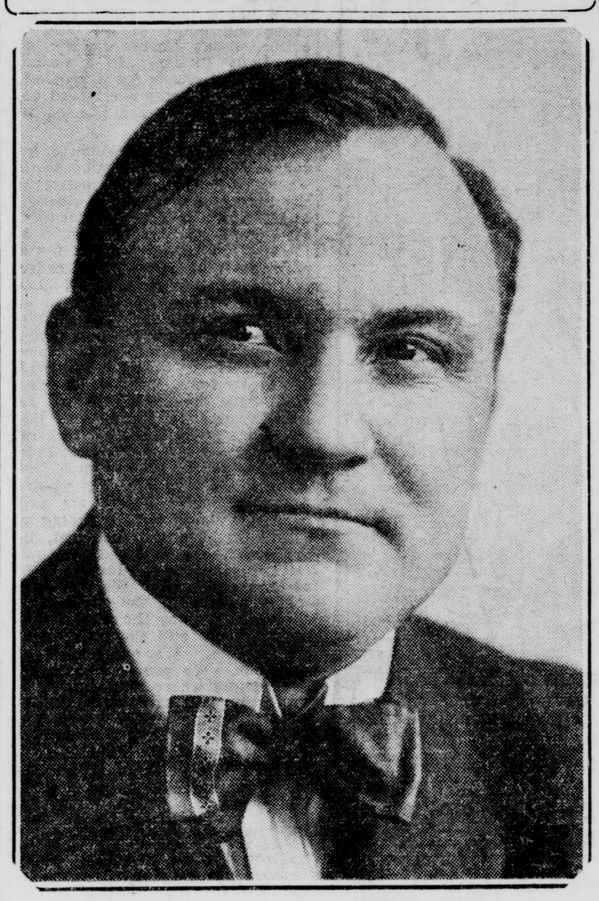
Mrs. Robert D. Jones sang a soprano solo, "Under His Wings."

266 M. P. H. ENOUGH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Rear-Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the naval aviation, decided today that it is not necessary for flyers to go faster than 266.6 miles an hour, and ordered the discontinuance of speed races at Mitchell Field, New York, between Lieut. Alfred J. Williams and Lieut. Harold J. Brow.

Compulsory duty enables more people to manage others' affairs than their own.

Noted Gospel Leader Here



PAUL RADER

Judging by the crowd in attendance this afternoon, Paul Rader, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle, Chicago, is to meet with warm response in his four appearances in Glendale. He is to speak tonight, Tuesday afternoon and evening, at the Gospel Tabernacle, corner of Louise and Chestnut streets.

Paul Rader is known as one of the ablest exponents of the Scriptures in the United States, and is an exceptionally forceful speaker. During the meetings held last week in Los Angeles, the church was filled and many were turned away. For six years he was pastor of the Moody tabernacle in Chicago, and at the present time is in charge of the Gospel tabernacle in that city, seating six thousand, which he fills at every meeting. Without a doubt he will be greeted by capacity audiences in Glendale.

Church Must Extend Sphere, Kemp Claims

Taking his text from Habbakuk: "For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea," Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, yesterday declared that the missionary character of the church must be maintained if the church is to carry out the purpose for which it was founded. Referring in detail to the work that had been done by some of the early Christian missionaries, Mr. Kemp said that the support of missions is merely the payment of the debt that the world owes to the past.

"The church that fails to carry on missionary work, both at home and abroad," Rev. Kemp declared, "is threatened with dry rot, for failure to extend the work of the church shows negligence and avoidance of its obligations."

Rev. Kemp's sermon was in the nature of an advance explanation of the nationwide campaign canvass that is to be carried out among members of St. Mark's within a few weeks.

Yesterday was the first anniversary of Rev. Kemp's start in the work of St. Mark's church, and the progress that has been made during that time has been a matter of congratulation for all the members of the congregation.

The regular Sunday evening services will be resumed on November 18, when the repairs and extensions that are being carried out on the church building will have been completed and the seating capacity of the building will have been practically doubled.

Woman Hurt as Cars Collide at Busy Corner

Mrs. Bruce McCaskill, 5811½ Franklin avenue, Hollywood, was slightly injured shortly after midnight Sunday when the car driven by her husband and that of Harry T. Moore, 104 South Garfield avenue, Alhambra, had a collision. The accident occurred at Colorado street and Central avenue. She was taken to the office of a Hollywood physician where her bruises and minor cuts were looked after.

Two Held When Tree Gets in Auto's Path

Charges were preferred against Don Millan, 180 South Hobert street, and J. R. Cook, 2216 West Thirtieth street, both of Los Angeles, as a result of their driving over the curb and running into a tree at 4 o'clock this morning. Officer Henderson, who saw the trouble occur at the corner of Maryland avenue and Harvard street, charges Millan with reckless driving and Cook with being drunk.

A flat sawed red oak board that is twelve inches wide when green, will shrink to eleven inches in width when it has seasoned or dried.

Bible Class Pursues Study of Creation

The creation of man and woman as described in the opening chapters of Genesis was the topic of an interesting discussion at the Presbyterian men's Bible class in the council rooms Sunday morning. Keith L. Brooks interpreted the Scripture and brought out many new points of interest.

In his opening remarks he pointed out that when God came to the creation of man He paused to hold a council whereas in each previous creative act He uttered His fiat and it was done. This, he declared, suggested that the solemn moment had come and implied the superior excellence of the creature about to be formed, and perhaps the seriousness of the results. In part he said:

"The Bible cannot be made to teach that the creation of man was a long-drawn-out evolutionary process. It was the personal act of the Creator, perfect in results and completed on the very day that the animals were made. The Bible account does less violence to reason than most of the evolutionary theories.

"We note from the Scripture that man was both created and made. The spirit of man was created, whereas his body was fashioned out of pre-existing material. Man was made in the image of God and is the only being in the universe who is triune. As the Godhead exists in threefold form, so man lives as spirit, soul and body, and this explains his ability to have dominion over all theh inferior creation. Man is a perpetual parable of the great truth that distinguishes Christianity from every other religion, namely, trinity in unity."

Record Attendance at Broadway M. E. Church

Attendance at all services at the Broadway Methodist church yesterday exceeded all previous records. Twelve new members were added to the Sunday school roll. A class was made up of five young girls, all new scholars. Miss Gertrude Edens delighted the school by singing as a solo, "Love Lifted Me."

At both morning and evening services the music, rendered by a choir of seventeen voices, was highly pleasing. Will J. Myers the director, sang "The Holy City" at the morning service.

A thirty-minute song service preceded the evening sermon. The pastor, Rev. L. J. Millikan, preached two stirring sermons, and the young congregation—less than a year old, is gratified at the steady growth in its membership and the increase in the attendance.

Two Boards Agree

Following an understanding between the Board of Trustees and the Board of Education, at the joint meeting of a week ago tonight, wherein it was agreed that the latter would hereafter look after the paving of streets along school property, the former have passed an improvement ordinance for the paving Fourth street, eliminating that portion thereof bordering on the school premises.

The City Trustees are confident that in this manner they have untangled the problem that has been disrupting the two boards of late, and that henceforth things will progress more smoothly.

In order to cover past and future expenses incident to improving their property, the Board of Education plan the flotation of a small bond issue.

Miss Marian Algots, sister of Mrs. M. O. Sparrow, Saturday, November 3, became the bride of Raey Marshall of Lankershim. The marriage was solemnized at the home of Mrs. G. Blix of that city, where a very beautiful garden party was afterward held.

Several musical numbers preceded the ceremony, Vern Isom, violinist, rendering two selections and Mrs. Philip McKeller singing. Mrs. Sparrow also sang.

Mr. Marshall was formerly a resident of Burbank, graduating from the local high school with the class of '19.

Jusserand to Explain Views of France

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

PARIS, Nov. 5.—France's position regarding the proposed conference of international reparations experts is to be outlined orally to Secretary of State Hughes by Jules Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States, according to the foreign office. France has not sent a formal note to Washington, but merely instructions to the French ambassador.

According to the foreign office, Ambassador Jusserand was instructed to point out:

First, the experts shall be empowered only to study Germany's capacity for reparations payments, including the output of the occupied regions.

Second, the experts shall not be allowed to consider the legality of Ruhr occupation, nor express any opinion regarding the pledges seized by the French and Belgians.

Third, the experts shall not be allowed to consider the agreements signed by the Franco-Belgian occupational forces with German industrialists in the Ruhr.

would dissolve the reichstag to strengthen the dictatorship. He cannot do this, however, without President Ebert's explicit authority, under the new German constitution.

The new nationalist newspaper, Deutch Zeitung, comments:

"If the battle against Marxism (socialism) is to continue, then the Marxist (Ebert) who is at the head of the reich, must be forced to resign. President Ebert is the personification of the revolution of five years ago.

Calls Ebert Disloyal

"All the principles and traditions of that revolution are breaking down. In the present chaos Ebert was disloyal in his conclusions and should go."

Persistent reports were circulated today that Wednesday has bene tentatively selected as the date for an armed coup by nationalists in the agrarian districts or eastern and southern Germany against the federal government.

SHANGHAI, Nov 5.—The boy emperor of China is to further shatter age-old traditions by entering business.

The former ruler of all China is selling priceless curios valued at several million dollars to secure funds for his new business venture.

COOS BAY GIRLS RUN TO RED HAIR

Prevalence of Titian Locks Puzzles Scientists in Oregon Region

NORTH BEND, Ore., Nov. 5.—Doctors, merchants, lawyers and others have failed to fathom the feminine Titian trend of the Coos bay section.

Strangers who come to towns on Coos bay say there are more good-looking red-headed girls here than any place they've ever been.

While there are no reports that Coos bay climate causes hair of any other tint to turn russet without the aid of henna, still it is a fact that a large proportion of the native born girlies of Coos county greet the attending doctors with little curly wisps of auburn.

Coos bay is one section of the United States where the tropics shake hands with the temperate zone. Located in southwestern Oregon, ordinarily thought of as a northern state, still palms grow plentifully and flowers bloom the year around.

Boosters here say it's the most even all-year-round temperature in the United States. There are miles and miles of pine and cedar trees which send down their pungent fragrance from the hills. Salt water fogs hover over the bay before sunlight breaks, the moist mists adding those cherubic complexions which girls who live by the sea always boast.

That smiling lass in the postoffice is a red-head.

The society editress of the Daily News is a titian top.

The girl at the coal office is a strawberry blonde.

The best dancer on Coos bay shakes curly auburn locks as she trips the light fantastic.

School teachers aren't mad when they see red. It's just the heads of girl pupils which are greeting their pedagogical optics.

Some of the doctors hereabouts say that if the roseate tipped lassies will only remain in Coos bay that in a generation or so this section will have a veritable coterie of red-headed laddies; that red-headed mothers will transfer the head color to the opposite sex. Right now once in a while a youthful mother can be seen cuddling a tiny brick-top.

Bucket of Blood Has No Terror for Cattle

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 5.—The old belief that cattle are excited by the sight or the smell of blood has been dealt a severe blow by Prof. G. M. Stratton of the University of California. He has poured out buckets of blood before bulls, cows and calves without the animals showing more than mild curiosity. Cattle showed more interest in the blood of their own kind than in that of horses, but in no case was there any pawing of the ground or bellowing.

Dr. Stratton attributes any excitement of cattle when one of the herd is bleeding to the cries of pain and the conduct of the wounded animal. A year or so ago he demonstrated by a similar series of experiments that red has no particular exciting effect upon bulls.

PAUL EDMONDS HOME

Paul, the son of Rev. W. E. Edmonds, who underwent minor surgery at the Glendale Research hospital recently, was removed to his home yesterday.

Burbank Bank Bandit Caught by Film Cops

man who had hurriedly left the bank with a handkerchief covering his face was the robber. This man he trailed to a small car parked at Orange Grove avenue near San Fernando road.

Lowman and others gave chase to Universal City, where the robber abandoned his machine and a detective employed by the film concern intercepted him in the chase which followed. In less than one hour from the time of the robbery Cordes, also known as Caldwell, was in the custody of the sheriff's office.

It is believed the bank will get back all of the $2600 or more stolen, while to Lohman goes the credit of capturing the robber.

Makes Confession

When questioned at the sheriff's office in Los Angeles, Cordes made a complete confession of the crime. He stated that he was a resident of Lankershim, and had been manager of Brent's Mountain Crags for three years. Lately he had been without employment, and took this way out of his financial difficulties. According to his statement, this is his first offense, and records at the sheriff's office bear him out.

Gordon's arrest was due to the presence of mind of Mr. Lohman. Upon arrival at Universal City, the fleeing robber attempted to pass through the gates. He was questioned, and during the delay Lohman signalled to Deputy Sheriff Martinson, on duty there, to hold him. Martinson placed him under arrest. The roll of stolen bills was found tucked under the seat in the sedan.

Merchants in Favor of Closing Nov. 12th

The Glendale Merchants association, at the regular weekly meeting in Jensen's Egyptian Village today, decided to have cards printed and distributed among such local business firms as wished to use them, stating that such houses would be closed on Monday, November 12, Armistice day. On account of the holiday that is to be observed on that day the association will not hold its regular meeting next Monday.

The usual routine business of the organization was transacted at the luncheon.

Early Egyptian Tools Like Hawaiian Adzes

Stone adzes used by Egyptians nearly five thousand years ago, to hew out tombs in soft limestone, are almost identical in form with the stone adzes used by Hawaiians to within recent years to cut wood. Dr. Henry S. Washington of the Carnegie Institution, who points out this similarity, says that it may support the theory that the culture which existed on the Pacific islands and in America before the time of Columbus originated in ancient Egypt about 800 B. C. and was spread westward by sailors. However, he thinks it more probable that the Hawaiians and Egyptians worked out the problem of rough cutting with hard stone in much the same way, but entirely independently.

Doom Sycamores for Causing Hay Fever

QUITMAN, Ga., Nov. 5.—On the ground that they cause hay fever all sycamore trees in Quitman probably will be ordered chopped down shortly. An ordinance now being formulated also will prohibit planting of sycamores in future.

Wanted—A Prophet
Lloyd George Optimistic
Appreciating Our West
Americanization Program

By Gil A. Cowan

From all appearances Hollywood has a heavy effect on the heart and hopes of its lawyer-editor, Judge Harlan Palmer of the Daily Citizen. In a recent editorial he pleads for a prophet, the following being a classical effusion, which we are pleased to copy:

"The world is ready to go somewhere, but doesn't know where to go. Goodness exists in the hearts of men, but it doesn't know how to function socially. Throughout the world there is a restless longing—a longing for a more peaceful, more joyful order of things. We are tired of ultimatums, we are sick of graft and cheap political dickerings. We are wearied of strife, and would like to shake hands with men everywhere and say 'Brother.' We yearn for a social order that will have the atmosphere of friendliness. In parts of the world we are weak from lack of food and we suffer from disease; in other places we are dull and disconsolate from a lack of opportunity to express ourselves; and in other places we are going a killing pace to get, get, get, in order that we may maintain social standing and answer the calls of envy and pride. We feel ourselves caught in the great machinery. We see the weaknesses of capitalism and the failures of communism. We are afraid of socialism. We ponder over it all and wonder where is the way out. The great heart of humanity is good and kind, but the brains that have brought us this whirling civilization have not brought contentment. We think of eight beautiful lines and we catch their truth:

The night has a thousand eyes,
And the day but one;
Yet the light of the bright world dies
With the dying sun.

The mind has a thousand eyes,
And the heart but one;
Yet the light of a whole world dies
When love is done.

"What the world needs today is a prophet, someone to show us how to utilize socially and internationally the personal goodness that has grown from the teachings and lives of other prophets, some one with the depth and sincerity of a man of God, the love and fearlessness and zeal of a Christian, the vision of a seer, and the brains of a scientist. The world is ready. Who will point the way?"

Lloyd George is an optimist. In his stateroom on the great transcontinental liner he granted a farewell interview to American newspapermen. He said:

"If the two great English speaking nations go to the reparations conference they can bring France to agree upon a settlement."

While we very much doubt that it would be wise for America to intercede at this time, we certainly commend the former premier of Great Britain for his courage in approaching a momentous problem in an agreeable attitude of hopefulness.

Incidentally, he paid America a pretty compliment which is worthy of westerners remembering.:

"I am sorry to leave this beautiful country. I have been deeply touched by my reception in America. Everywhere I went the people did their utmost to make me welcome. I shall be coming back—want to see California and the Rockies."

Indeed, it is too bad that Lloyd George, like so many of his English cousins, is unable to settle down here where the west is golden. A cottage in Glendale is much more desirable than a big house in Downing street, we opine.

Really, some of us do not appreciate the glories of our existence here in the southland.

The Santa Barbara News says a mouthful about the Americanization program which the political educators are crying about in this state, when it comments as follows:

"The herding of Mexican children into the country schools to the destruction of the country schools is injurious in the extreme, and benefits neither the attendants upon the country schools nor the Mexican children who are forced to attend the schools, and whose sole instruction consists in saying 'No sabe' to the American school teacher who is torturing them and not instructing them in the very least."

Boys Held for Drug Store Robbery Here

T. M. Satterfield, 18 years old, and two younger companions are under arrest at police headquarters charged with breaking into the drug store of F. A. Tinker, 812 South San Fernando road, Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

The loot consisted chiefly of cigars, cigarettes, candy and groceries, some of which, it is said, was found on the boys at the time of their apprehension.

'PLANTERS' IN COURT

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Eleven persons, including the manager, who were arrested amid scenes of wild disorder when federal officers swooped down and raided the Plantation club early Sunday, were to be arraigned today in federal court for violation of the Volstead act.

Overindulgence in patience is equally as harmful as having none at all.

SAYS BUNNY HUG BELONGS ON SOFA

Inappropriate in Dance Hall Asserts Iowa City Welfare Worker

MASON CITY, Iowa, Nov. 5.—Marquis of Queensberry rules, strangle and other catch-as-catch-can holds barred, must be employed to regulate dancing here, according to Miss Arcley Marshall, city welfare worker.

Miss Marshall has formulated a code of dancing regulations which will be enforced in Mason City during the coming season.

"The place for the bunny hug, the toddle, cheek-to-cheek dancing and the duck waddle is on the davenport—not on the dancing floor," Miss Marshall asserted.

Girls, especially those of the "better families," are causing most of the unseemly dancing, according to the welfare worker. Some of the positions assumed in dancing are termed atrocious.

"Why these girls will permit their partners to hold them below the waist line, while they insist on a strangle hold on the young man is beyond me," Miss Marshall declared.

"Dancing is healthy, enjoyable exercise, but when two persons get out in the middle of the floor, with suggestive music, in a tight hug and then just wiggle they aren't dancing."

Girls under sixteen years of age will be barred from public dance halls here this winter.

DISCOVERY MAY PREDICT QUAKES

Movement of Earth's Crust Is Charted by Geodetic Survey Party

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Slow movements of the earth's crust are in progress in California, Col. E. Lester Jones, director of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, who characterized them as "remarkable," announces. The eventual result of the precise surveys showing these changes may be the prediction of the time and place of earthquakes within reasonable limits.

Field parties this year found irregular movements of the coastal region within 200 miles of San Francisco amounting to as much as sixteen feet as compared with accurate surveys mare thirty or more years ago.

San Andreas Fault

The movements shown bear a general relation to the famous San Andreas fault line, a slip along which was the immediate cause of the great earthquake of 1906. Points south and west of this line have, with a few notable exceptions, moved in a northerly direction, while those to the north and east of the line have nearly all moved toward the south. There is little uniformity in the amount of the movements.

For example, San Jose peak, about ten miles southwest of the fault line and about forty miles inland from San Luis Obispo, has moved north sixteen feet, while Santa Lucia peak, eighty miles to the northwest, has moved only seven feet northwards.

Epoch-Making Results

Major William Bowie, chief of the division of geodesy, under whose direction the work during the past two years has been done, says of the results:

"They are epoch-making and may lead to the eventual predicting within reasonable limits of the time and place of earthquakes. It has long been known that the earth moves horizontally along a fault line, but how far back from the fault does the movement take place? Our surveys found decided movements for stations fifteen miles or more from the fault, and the creeping of the surface probably is going on at even greater distances. Field work carried on in the future will reveal this."

Farmers Will Launch Campaign on Gophers

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 5.—War on thousands of gophers and ground squirrels running over Santa Barbara county has been declared by ranchers who will attack the rodent army in solid phalanxes, mounted on regulation farm tractors.

The tractor regiment will make a gas attack upon the underground burrows dug by the gophers, in which they breed. Gas fumes from the tractor exhaust are deadly enough to exterminate whole families of squirrels and gophers when the exhaust is placed at the mouth of the burrow. Heretofore the pests have been gassed by special apparatus used like hand sprays.

United States cotton belt is practically entirely the result of cultivation from seeds brought from Malta, Egypt, India and the West Indies 300 years ago.

GLENDALE STARS LOSE SO EASY

Former Major Leaguers Prove Ability to Pass Out One Run Victories

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff

Frank Kerwin's aggregation of Glendale All-Stars, composed of major league performers, lost both of their week-end performances by the narrow margin of one run. On Saturday the Angels trounced them to the tune of 6-5, and yesterday the Shell Oil outfit nosed them out in a free hitting contest, 10-9. This makes the third time in succession that they lost the decision by a lone marker, Pasadena trimming them 4-3 a week ago.

"Heine" Sands of Philadelphia made heroic efforts to stave off defeat on Saturday, by poling out a homer with Statz on in the first inning, and a double in the eighth. The major leaguers apparently had the game in their bat bag until the Angels bunched hits along with a pair of walks by "Lefty" Thomas. Percy Jones won his own game in the eighth when he started the fireworks with a triple to left center and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Lotful of Peepul

A capacity crowd greeted the barnstormers at the Shell Oil park at Signal Hill yesterday, and the big hand of the afternoon went to our own "Babe" Herman when he poled the ball over the right field wall in the first inning with two on. This is the first hit that ever cleared the fence at this point.

Fairbanks of the Oilers hurled a splendid game, but was in hot water several times, due to the bobbles of his team mates. With the exception of the first and third innings, he kept the hits well scattered and looked good. Two walks, two errors and two hits spelled ruin for the local outfit in the fifth inning, when the Shell team put over four runs. This was too much of a handicap for the major leaguers to overcome and they trailed in second place for the rest of the game.

Triple A Next Week

This was the last appearance of the major leaguers in Glendale uniform this year. The local team makes its initial appearance in the Triple A Winter league next Sunday. The score:

Oxy Annexes Tough Game With Whittier

By LARRY RAYMOND
Of The Evening News Staff

When dust settled last Saturday afternoon in the little town of Whittier, the Occidental varsity eleven had practically stripped the Quaker team of all possible hopes for the conference championship. The Tigers fought desperately against the "orneriest" football aggregation in the south, and only a scant three hundred loyal Occidental rooters cheering them on to victory. Oxy worked furiously under handicap and finally won out by the small score of 12-3 in the Orange and Black's favor.

The Poets realized they would be on the short end of the score, determined to change the luck and lay out the Oxy star players in the early part of the struggle. They pulled, pushed, tackled and jumped on men ruthlessly, and managed to evade the eye of the left eye broken, eliminating him referee. Pierre Priaulx had his as Occidental's center in the first minute's play.

Dave Ridderhof, blonde fullback for Occidental, was the star and the spectators marveled at his ability and strength to hold out through the entire game, continuing to make splinters of the opponents. His accurate passes to the speedy wingmen made the victory possible. Spangler and Argue did nobly and Creighton and Stevens did their share to bring about the touchdowns.

Captain Johns, Suggett and Denny featured for Whittier; Behnke and Kimmel shone in the line; Ferguson got off several nice punts.

Oxy worked under the handicap of three first string men not playing at all. Gordon Shoaf was on the bench with a sprained ankle. Art Garey had an injured hip. McDonald broke a rib and wrenched his back in the Stanford game. The Pierre Priaulx never got a chance to play. The injured center, who is playing his second year varsity football, will be shut out the remainder of the season and will not be able to play next year, likely.

Marston to Share Proceeds With Injured Officer; Tickets Sell Fast

Battling Ward vs. Eddie Brown.
Pete Essick vs. Freddie Klagge.
Ralph Meyer vs. Jimmy Berry.
Packey Flynn vs. Ted Rose.
Young Kelly vs. Fred Wallace.

The demand for seats for Tuesday night's show, to be staged at Hahn's auditorium, by Matchmaker Les Marston, for the Glendale Athletic club, is very gratifying, according to members of the local police force, who are handling part of the tickets. The management and the police officials are working together in this affair, as part of the proceeds will go to Officer Baugh, who was injured some time ago in a motorcycle accident.

Stages Strong Card

Differing from the usual run of these benefit affairs, Les Marston has arranged one of the strongest cards to be staged here this winter, and hopes for a large turnout. The go between Battling Ward of Lankershim and Eddie Brown of Los Angeles alone should be worth the price of admission if these boys go true to form.

Many fans are just as much interested in the semi-windup, between Pete Essick and Freddie Klagge. It is no secret that there is no love lost between these boys, and the fur ought to fly when they get together.

Ralph Meyer and Jimmy Berry, Packey Flynn and Ted Rose, and Young Kelly and Fred Wallace round out what promises to be an evening of good clean sport.

Average human life is prolonged sixteen years, regularity, exercise and plain diet being the basis of the increased longevity, say scientists.

Independence comes through self-dependence.

De Molay Institute Chapter at Van Nuys

Glendale De Molays and Knights Templar went to Van Nuys Saturday night to participate in the institution of the De Molay chapter there. There were forty in the Glendale delegation headed by Dr. Roy V. Hogue, commander of Glendale Commandery No. 53, Knights Templar, and Valentine Hollingsworth, master councilor of the local De Molay chapter. There was also a big delegation there from Hollywood.

The first event of the evening was a banquet, followed by a brilliant street parade headed by the Van Nuys Kiwanis club band. Later the institution was held with the Glendale De Molays in charge. There were forty candidates receiving the first and second degrees.

The Glendale chapter is to meet Thursday night at the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard to confer the first and second degrees on ten candidates.

NEVADANS SCARE CALIFORNIA BEAR

Scoreless Tie Saturday Reveals Possibility of Victory for Trojans

By 'DOC' McGILLIS
Of The Evening News Staff

The football populace of the Pacific coast was given a shock of shocks Saturday afternoon when it learned that Andy Smith's University of California Bears—the same Golden Bears who have not been defeated in three years and who have been doped as 1923 conference winners—were outplayed and held to a scoreless tie by the Nevada Sagebrushers, who, at best, are ranked as little more than third-raters. If the University of Washington victory over U. S. C. was an upset, then California's showing against Nevada was a complete somersault. Not even the most ambitious player on the Sagebrush squad dared even hope for such a moral victory over the highly-touted Bruins.

Andy Among Absent

The fact that Andy Smith did not deem the contest of sufficient importance to brighten the Blue and Gold bench with his presence, is but an indication of how seriously the Berkeley-ites considered the encounter. Although Smith may have picked up a few valuable pointers from observing the Stanford Cardinals bowl over the Olympic club, it's a 10 to 1 bet that he learned a lesson that will never again take him away from the scene of action of a California brawl.

In spite of the fact that Nevada outplayed the Bears throughout the contest, there is no argument that the Sagebrushers are the better eleven. It was just a California off-day — something that usually happens to a gridiron team at least once at year, and which hadn't struck the Bears in nearly four seasons. Instead of getting their usually lucky breaks which would enable them to roll up a mammoth score against their opponents, they even needed Dame Fortune and the breaks of the game to stave off defeat and remain at even terms with the invading aggregation.

HORROR OF DEFEAT

The scare put into the Bruins Saturday will undoubtedly prove to be the lifesaver of the squad, similar to the moral effect produced on the U. S. C. Trojans following their defeat at the hands of the Washington Huskies. Every man on the squad will be out on the field the remainder of the season in an attempt to outlive Saturday's disaster and prove to the public that it was not what it should have been. It will be a splendid impetus for them in training for next Saturday's big game with "Gloomy" Gus Henderson's Trojans, which should prove to be the battle of the year.

NEW RESTAURANT FORMALLY OPENS

Chauteau de Qualite Is Thronged by Patrons Eager to Test Cuisine

The formal opening of the Chateau de Quality, the new confectionery and cafe that has been launched at 108 East Broadway by F. W. Edwards and George B. Dennis, drew a capacity crowd of Glendale's diners to the establishment on Saturday night and taxed the resources of the new cafe to more than double the extent that had been anticipated by the owners.

Reservations were made for several days before the formal opening date, and the waiting guests who patiently stood in line until they could secure a table offered eloquent testimony to the instant popularity that the new house of entertainment has achieved.

Owners Greet Guests

Mr. Edwards and Mr. Dennis were both on hand to greet their hosts of new friends, and the many expressions of approval volunteered by the guests, both on the quality of the food and the service, showed that the proprietors have struck a responsive chord in the breasts of the people of Glendale.

A varied and excellently rendered musical program furnished the guests with additional pleasure as they ate, and the restful tones of the interior, with the rich decorations that stamp the establishment with the cachet of good taste and refinement, also made a deep impression on the patrons of the Chateau de Qualite.

The preliminary rush of preparation had all been completed before the doors were thrown open formally on Saturday night, and the machinery of the new cafe moved smoothly under the watchful eyes of Mr. Edwards and Mr. Dennis, both of whom have had years of experience in high-class catering.

that anyone can believe what Bill Rogers says!"

Programs Will Be Sold

The programs will be sold by the following five well known film personalities, reports Mrs. J. R. Case, Jr., chairman of the program committee: Hedda Hooper, Mrs. Willard Lewis, Cleo Ridgway, Peg O'Neil and Alice Hollister.

One copy of the program will be autographed by every star taking part in the performance and presented to the women of the Tuesday Afternoon club, Mrs. Chase states.

The job printing department of The Glendale Evening News is providing the programs. Both the stock and the work are being donated by A. T. Cowan, publisher of this newspaper. J. R. Thorpe is providing the engraving of Mr. Sayre's illustration.

With such a concentration of the highest type of professional talent on one night, hours of unparalleled entertainment are assured. Those who attend this show will look back on it with vivid memories not only for days and weeks, but for years. Those who let anything aside from the gravest or most pressing matter stand in the way of their presence at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse tomorrow night will never cease to regret it, feel those who for many days have been working on this great benefit for the families of the fire victims. Such opportunities come rarely and seldom are they combined with so high-minded a purpose as in the present instance.

St. Mark's Halloween Party Proves Success

The children of St. Mark's Episcopal Sunday school turned out en masse for the Halloween party that was held in the Guild hall on Saturday night, coming as witches, kewpies, ballet dancers, tramps, and in many other varieties of costumes. The hall was decorated in black and yellow, and around the walls extended a series of pictures of weird animals that were also regarded as being appropriate to the occasion.

Ducking for apples allowed the boys to achieve a satisfactory degree of wetness and permitted the girls to scream to their hearts' content, and other games kept the youngsters amused as long as the party lasted. Refreshments were served, consisting of lemonade, cookies and pumpkin pie.

Leslie Girard was awarded the prize for the most striking pumpkin sent in by any of the boys.

BRITISH NAVAL PLAN WORRIES SOME NATIONS

Project In Violation Of Four-Powers' Treaty, Is Claim Of Some

British plans to make Singapore in the Dutch East Indies a "Gibraltar of the East" is causing considerable apprehension among other nations and is arousing opposition in England from statesmen who believe the plans violate, at least in spirit, the terms of the four-power naval treaty. Japan and Holland particularly are alarmed over the idea of a British stronghold at the southern tip of the Malay peninsula. The Dutch because they believe Britain aims to make their fleet merely an auxiliary of the royal navy and the Japanese because of the recent abrogation of the Anglo-Jap treaty. The map above shows the strategic position of Singapore.

Iowa Girl Battles Big Rail Interests

with its fleet of fifteen motor busses, which cover about 2000 miles of Tall Corn State roads every day.

The railroads would have the railroad commission deny the Red Ball a certificate to operate, the board having such powers under a recently enacted state statute regulating public motor conveyances.

The "bus line queen" was working as a clerk in an Iowa railroad office a few years ago. She learned the rudiments of transportation, and later, in California, where she went for a visit, she became interested in the operation of bus lines.

On inheriting an estate, Miss Schultz purchased a motor bus. The initial effort was a huge success. Driving the motor stagecoach herself, business grew rapidly, and the popularity of the line made necessary the purchase of another bus.

Patronage Grows

The line grew rapidly until now it is said to comprise equipment valued at $125,000, covering the entire section of the state adjacent to Mason City. Three competing bus lines which started operation in the last year have been forced out of business by Miss Schultz's Red Ball company.

Aside from Miss Schultz, the organization consists of an office girl, her brother, Mangus, who is the mechanical director, and the bus drivers. Miss Schultz dictates policies, does the hiring and firing and directs the business.

Million Mark Goal of November Builders

With many applicants appearing at the office of Building Superintendent H. C. Vandewater at the city hall this morning, building permits to be issued today will no doubt swell the monthly total beyond the first hundred thousand dollar mark in an effort to reach the million dollar goal for November.

Permits to the value of $77,764 had been issued so far this month up to closing time Saturday, the mark for the year standing at $8,189,201.

Permits issued Saturday were as follows:

Cora H. and L. G. Brown, 4 rooms, 904 East Raleigh	$ 1,900
Carrie Hendrix, 3 rooms, 1306 East Broadway	1,000
Emma L. Wood, addition, 324 West Broadway	1,000
Mrs. Grace Horton, repairs, 512 South Pacific	500
Charles A. Brooks, sleeping porch, 407 South Adams	150
R. G. Lant, repairs, 1134 Rosedale	200
William Baren, garage, 570 West Dryden	125

Heart of Glacier Is Explored by Kirk

ists, as in other countries I have heard of, are their big crop, and as the season is short they surely make the best of it.

"After traveling in France and Belgium with their cheap money, it surely gives a fellow a shock to come up against the prices they charge him here. The months of July and August are supposed to be their tourist season, with the last half of June and the first of September as the beginning and end, but here in October the weather is of the best, the tourists are still on hand and the prices are still high.

"The scenery continued very fine till we reached the lake on which Interlaken is located, called Thunersee. The lake is pretty, but the country around it is not quite as picturesque. From Interlaken, however, the Jungfrau and other snow covered peaks of the Alps can be seen and it was for that reason we went there. We had been 'recommended' to the Bellevue hotel and found it good. Through the porter I learned of the different trips to Grindelwald and the Jungrau. The latter is a very fine trip and takes you away up, giving you magnificent views, unquestionably, but it wouldn't suit us at any price, because the altitude gets too great and it is a strenuous long day trip even by train. The round trip fare for it, second class (the best), is 70 francs for each person, which would make it cost $42 for three people.

See Grindelwald Glacier

"We decided to drive up to Grindelwald Glacier, where you can't go by train at all, as it is three miles above Grindelwald station. We had a rubber-tired, two-horse, open carriage for the trip at a cost of 60 francs, which with the driver's tip of 5 francs, made a total cost of about $13.

"We left about 10:30 and were about three and a half hours in each direction, long enough to be a little tiresome. The day was almost perfect, just a little warm in the sun in the middle of the day. The grade is stiff all the way from the outskirts of Interlaken.

"Finally we reached the hotel at the end of the drive, had some lunch and walked through the trees about 600 yards to the grotto in the glacier. It was a unique experience. We went up to a glacier in Norway, if you remember, but we didn't 'go in.' They have a tunnel into this one for some 200 feet about seven by five and a half. We were used to the ashy white color of the glaciers and had seen this one for quite a distance, as it is easily discernible from the snow, but were not prepared for the beautiful blue grotto into which we went.

Clear and Pure

"I had imagined the mass to be filled with more or less debris, but it was as clear and pure as could be. The day being warm it was melting more than usual and the water was running in sluices alongside the boards which were laid on the bottom for a walk and was dripping from above.

"The tunnel is winding and to be in that frigid atmosphere with that shining mass all about you gives you a very strange feeling. At the inner end is a small vent and it looked good to look up and see the blue sky and be assured that you were still on earth.

"The wife had walked only a short way from the hotel and decided that she didn't want the exertion of going to the grotto and back, but, after my experience, I rushed back after her and she, too, at the risk of taking cold, went clear in. I wouldn't have had her miss it for anything.

"Our guide wanted us to take a trip over the glacier for the novel experience, but when I saw him tying ropes around those who were going and then looked up and saw another guide picking his way with an ice pick, followed by careful steppers, I decided that the game wasn't worth the candle for us.

"The exterior of the mass is in the form of great boulders, at the bottom, and higher up is serrated and in shape like the pinnacles of clay that are formed by the rains along the bluffs of the seashore.

Perpetual Charm

"The white peaks of the Jungfrau and other peaks in the Alps were visible during the entire drive. The beautiful scenery, Swiss cottages, cattle, goats and country life were a perpetual charm. It is potato digging time now and the women folks, principally, are on the job early and late, with large, heavy pronged diggers, but shaped like hoes, filling tall baskets small at the bottom and wide at the top.

"We wondered why they were so shaped, till we saw them strapped on the back for carrying. By doing this themselves they save horse feed. Most of the land is in pasture, which nourishes their cattle and goats, whence they derive their living. And they are surely a thrifty people.

"Everything they do is thorough and finished. The streams and rivers are confined and guided by rock bulkheads; the hillsides bordering the roads are held by granite walls; their bridges are all arched granite or steel; their roads macadam. Not a beggar is seen. They have so many 'easy' tourists from whom they surely know how to extract the money that there is plenty to go around and I believe it is well distributed."

In his next letter Mr. Kirk will write of Lugano, Switzerland.

One Pasadenan Nabs Fellow Pasadenan

The police force of Glendale was temporarily reinforced last evening when L. C. McGuinn, 279 East Villa street, Pasadena, took into custody one of his fellow townsmen, John C. Clogston, 635 North Fair Oaks avenue, charging him with drunkenness and reckless driving.

McGuinn noticed the queer actions of the car driven by Clogston at the corner of Adams and Colorado streets, it is said, and pulling into the curb waited and placed him under arrest. Dr. G. Kaemmerling was called and pronounced the man intoxicated. He is being held for trial.

TOO SMALL XMAS CARDS GET LOST

Tiny Greetings Cause Much Trouble for Postal Men, So Head 'Em Off

By RALPH A LYND
Of The Evening News Staff

With the approach of the Christmas season thousands of the residents of Glendale will feel the cosmic urge to send greeting cards to their friends in many parts of the country, and the choice of cards will range over nearly as wide a territory as the spots to which they will be directed.

The idea, according to the best authorities, is a sound one, especially when the cards are selected are such as to show California beauties and advantages, instead of the usual snow scenes that the New York printers insist on putting out by the millions at Christmas, totally overlooking the fact that the snow stuff is out of place anywhere in California except around the summit of the highest mountains.

Help Postal Workers.

But another kind of card rouses even harder feelings than does the snow scene card, according to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson. That is the dinky little card about as big as a cigarette paper, that is mailed in an envelope of a size to correspond, and it breaks the heart of every postal employe whose duty it may be to handle it.

These little cards have a habit of getting lost in transit. They fall down behind partitions, they conceal themeslves in odd corners, they don't fit into the stamp cancelling machines that run the regulation size letter through at a rate unbelieveable, thousands per minute, and they deal more grief to the letter carrier than any other kind of mail, not even excepting the poorly wrapped parcel post package.

Head 'Em Off!

For these reasons, Uncle Sam has passed the word out to all his postmasters, saying "Head 'em off".

The delivery of Christmas mail Uncle Sam's postmaster general contends, will be greatly expedited if the greeting cards mailed out would keep to a uniform size, not to be smaller than 2¾ inches by 4 inches, so that his letter carriers may be able to handle them easily and deliver them in plenty of time to the persons to whom they are addressed.

Silk-cocoon crop of Japan for this year is officially forecasted as 240,446,000 pounds of white and 8,443,000 pounds of yellow, an increase of 2,500,000 pounds over last year.

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter Guest of Women's Club Federation at Luncheon in Los Angeles

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of the Evening News Staff

"We had to be females first, and met in little groups to gain self-confidence, then we broadened out, participating in civic affairs, and today we have reached the stage of development where we recognize the relation between the intellectual and spiritual." This was the brief resume of American women's clubs given by Mrs. Thomas Gerald Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, who arrived in Los Angeles early Saturday morning and was honored guest and speaker Saturday afternoon at a luncheon at the Biltmore hotel, where the California local biennial board and Southern California newspaper women sat about her at the luncheon table and later listened to her for one hour and a half in a stirring address that was indeed an inspiring preface for the biennial gathering in Los Angeles June 3 to 10.

Mrs. Winter has come to California to make preliminary plans for the biennial, the first affair of the kind to take place in Los Angeles for twenty years.

Mrs. Sartori Presides

Twenty years ago, when the national gathering was held in Los Angeles, Mrs. Joseph Francis Sartori served as publicity chairman, and today she is serving as president of the local biennial board, and in that capacity presided at Saturday's luncheon, introducing Mrs. Frank A. Gibson, publicity chairman of the coming celebration, who in turn introduced Mrs. Winter.

Declaring herself a representative of that great national organization including "every kind of woman America produces," Mrs. Winter traced the evolution of the woman's club from the informal social group to the active club organization that not only functions as a local force, but has the broader vision of the district, state and national federation.

Nearly 3,000,000 Women

She stated that today the national federation represents 2,800,000 club women. She emphasized the close relation of the home to club life, and gave a the three purposes of the home, satisfaction of individual life, economic participation and training of future citizens.

In touching on national affairs Mrs. Winter voiced the opinion that "We talk about life and liberty and we have them, but we have forgotten the pursuit of happiness." She spoke in discouragement of partisan politics, and hopefully of world peace.

Possessed of a brilliant, alert mind, magnetic personality, charming presence and pleasing voice, Mrs. Winter is a well chosen leader for American club women, and on Saturday, in her informal, but forceful, address, she endeared herself to all who heard her.

Canine Fisherman Lands Big Salmon

NEWMAN (Stanislaus Co.), Nov. 5.—Claus Christensen's dog today is admitted to be the champion fisherman of the San Joaquin valley, with a salmon weighing forty-nine pounds to its credit.

Christensen, a local dairyman was engaged in spearing salmon on the Merced river four miles east of Newman, when he glimpsed a giant fish, which he successfully speared. Plunging and splashing in the stream, the fish broke the barb and was about to escape when the dog plunged in and grabbed the fish by the tail, until Christensen again gaffed the fish, which proved to be the largest catch of the season.

GARDEN OF EDEN GIVES UP SPOILS

Scientist Claims Bible and Darwinian Theory Are in Harmony

William Jennings Bryan, who lectured recently in Glendale on Religion vs. Evolution, declared that the Darwinian theory was not only contrary to the teachings of the Bible, but that it was unsupported by any scientific proof.

SEATTLE, Nov. 5.—William Jennings Bryan can batter his sword into a plow share. And so can the exponents of the Darwinian theory of evolution who have been fighting him.

Because, according to Roy Chapman Andrews, scientist and explorer, who left Seattle last week for New York with the spoils of three years' expedition in what was once the Garden of Eden, both of them are right. Andrews declares that there is absolutely no conflict, from a scientific standpoint between the theory of evolution and a liberal interpretation of Genesis.

Andrews' investigations in the Gobi desert, Central Asia, have convinced him—if he needed any proof beforehand—that Darwin was right, in that all animal life has been evolved from a primitive stage. But he is also convinced that the Bible is right, in that there was a Garden of Eden, where primitive man first saw the light of day.

Source of Life.

The Gobi desert, he says, was the source of practically every form of life. Evidences of this, with the exception of primitive man and the primitive horse, were found by his expedition, and he declares that further investigation should reveal both of these.

Andrews arrived in Seattle aboard the Admiral Oriental liner President Jackson, accompanied by Professor Henry Fairfield Osborne, president of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, and Mrs. Osborne, who met him as he emerged from the desert.

Osborne was particularly elated by Andrews' discovereies, and they bore out an assertion made by him 25 years ago, that all forms of animal life originated in Central Asia.

Antiquated Eggs.

Andrews brought with him nine tons of fossils, as evidence of his discoveries. Among these are 25 dinosaur eggs, which put any cold storage product to shame, as their age is estimated at some 10,000,000 years; the skeleton of a browsing rhinoceros, 24 feet long, 12 feet high, with a giraffe-like neck 22 feet long, and the skull of a dog-like monster, three feet long with a mouth opening 18 inches.

Sun Drug Co. Heads Guests at Banquet

L. A. Collins & Company of Long Beach, proprietors of Lac-Lax, entertained fifty managers and heads of departments of The Sun Drug company at a banquet at Paulais' in Los Angeles, Thursday noon.

Mr. Collins, in addressing the managers, showed how Lac-Lax had grown in three years from a first order of 100,000 lozenges to where the company is now packing 600,000 lozenges a week, using 1,500,000 gold fish per year in their advertising, covering practically all states west of the Pennsylvania line with their salesmen.

It was announced that offices would be opened in New York in 1924, where it is expected the entire United States will be covered.

It was shown that 40,000 gold fish had been handled for the Sun deal alone in one week.

In appreciation of the co-operation the managers had given L. A. Collins & Company, it was announced that a large crystal aquarium with bronze standard and gold fish was to be sent to each manager's home.

Letter Carriers' Band Will Stage Concert

The Letter Carriers' band is trying to do something few bands have ever done, according to A. C. Holcomb, manager, and that is to finance themselves. To this end the benefit affair on Saturday night, November 10, at the Knights of Pythias hall, Park avenue and Brand boulevard, is being given, and will be the first of a series of band concerts and entertainments calculated to place this band in the forefront of Glendale harmonics.

A total of fifteen men comprise the personnel of the Letter Carriers' band at the present time, with N. E. McFarlad as leader. While they have played at the boxing bouts staged Tuesday nights at Hahn's auditorium, on North Brand boulevard, November 10 will be their first formal bow to the public of the city.

MEN MOST KEEN, SAYS DR. EWER

Disputes Claim About Women's Intuition at College Club's Session

The popular claim that woman possesses keener intuition than man was disputed Saturday by Dr. Bernard C. Ewer, head of the department of psychology at Pomona college, and writer and lecturer on psychological subjects, in an address before the Glendale College Women's club at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

"Man has just as keen intuition as woman, only he doesn't use it," declared Dr. Ewer in a masterful address, based on research work he has done recently in educational and social psychology, showing the sex differences in the mind as they appear in school and life in general.

It was "Pomona College Day," and Pomona college alumnae members of the club were hostesses, and a group of Pomona college alumnae, students and friends were special guests.

Visitors Introduced

The company was received in the palm room, where the program was introduced by Mrs. Paul E. Webb.

Mrs. James Arnold Blaisdell, wife of President Blaisdell, was honored guest, and in her own delightful manner brought greetings from the college president and emphasized the cultured simplicity dominating Pomona college.

Sharing honors with Dr. Ewer was Raymond Moremen of the college's executive staff, Pomona alumnus, talented musician, and for two years instructor in the International college at Smyrna, Turkey, and Mr. Batten, head of regional service at the college.

Speaks On Turkey

Mr. Moremen spoke informally of his experiences in Turkey, comparing the secluded life of the Turkish girls with the freedom of the American girls. He also entertained with a group of vocal selections, playing his own accompaniment.

Pictures of the college buildings and campus were shown by Mr. Batten, who emphasized the inscription on the college gates, "Only the thoughtful, the eager and reverent enter here" and "All those departing bear their added riches in trust for mankind."

Songs and Tea

James Judy, representative of the college in Los Angeles, appeared on the program, giving a group of songs.

Later tea was served in the Italian tea room, with Mesdames Walter Stamps, Robert Kolts, Paul E. Webb, W. L. Jencks and Miss Katherine V. Sinks as hostesses.

Mrs. Ewer was among those motoring over from Claremont for the tea. Dr. Irene Meyers of Occidental college was also among the fifty persons enjoying the affair.

Bert Chappell Adds Chapter to Career

Bert Chappell, who was employed by the Home Ice company here three years ago, as well as the directory department of The Glendale Evening News, has had a varied career in that brief span of time such as Horatio Alger used to write about.

Bert left The Evening News to become head office boy at the Los Angeles Examiner. He developed tuberculosis, was sent to Olive View hospital, discovered his teeth were causing the trouble, lost 'em and was provided with the store bought variety, and he went to ranching.

Out at La Junta, Colo., he found need for a newspaper, started it, married, got the management of a store and bought a ranch of his own. Last week-end he lone-handedly captured four train robbers, according to telegraph reports.

Incidentally, he saw service overseas in the army during the war, which is quite an eventful life for a fellow now about 25 years of age.

Old Time Boarding House Opens Here

A real old-fashioned southern boarding house has been opened by Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Shearer at 1300 South Orange street, where meals will be cooked and served under the personal supervision of Mrs. Shearer, "who," says her husband, "is an even better cook than "my mother used to be," which, it must be conceded, is considerable of an admission for any man to make.

The Shearers came from Eagle Rock, where at 2220 Eagle avenue they conducted on a smaller scale a similar establishment.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 5.—Decision to print Veterans' welfare bonds to the extent of $10,000,000, as approved by the people at the November election, has been reached by the State Finance board.

Four million dollars of Veterans' welfare bonds will be offered next January, half of which will be used to balance expenditures already incurred in locating veterans of the world war on farms and in homes.

PROFESSOR TEACHES EQUITATION

Riding, Jumping And Polo Instruction Given

Prof. R. S. Bakefelt, Mounted on Mac, an English Hunter, Who Jumps Five Feet.

All styles of riding and horsemanship are being taught at the Oakmont Saddle stables, states J. R. Thorpe, proprietor, with Prof. R. G. Bakefelt, a noted authority on equitation, in charge.

Professor Bakefelt has for the past twenty-five years made instruction in park riding, jumping, polo and driving his profession, having been established at Jacksonville, Fla., Denver and Colorado Springs, Colo., and Washington, D. C.

His work at the Oakmont Saddle stables will include special care and attention to women and children, Mr. Thorpe states.

Fully Equipped Stables

These fully equipped, high class stables are located in Montrose, just one-half mile north of the Glendale city limits, at the corner of Ocean View boulevard and Waltona drive. Being but twelve miles from the heart of Los Angeles, he points out, seven miles from Pasadena and almost at the doors of the new Oakmont Country club, now near completion, at Sparr Heights, they are ideally placed to serve large numbers of those who love horseback riding.

"With the Oakmont bridle path open to riders and miles of dirt roads and mountain trails leading from our stables off into the Verdugo hills," says Mr. Thorpe, "we are indeed fortunately situated."

Parcel Post Limits to Japan Are Raised

In answer to the requests for information that have been received through the postoffices of the United States regarding the weight limit of parcels that may be sent to the sufferers in the recent Japanese earthquake, the Japanese government has agreed to accept parcels up to 22 pounds in weight, instead of the present limit of 11 pounds, up till and including Christmas.

After that date the regular 11 pound limit will again go into effect, but the concession made by the Japanese postal officials will permit those who desire to send packages to the sufferers to do so on a more generous scale.

The regular postal rate of 12 cents per pound will remain in force for all packages.

Federal Credit Bank Will Assist Farmers

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 5.—In response to requests from agriculturists throughout the state, I. M. Joffers, head of the grain division of the department of agriculture, announced today that $10,000,000 will be advanced to California farmers this year on warehouse receipts representing unsold crops, by the Federal Intermediate Credit bank at Berkeley.

Advances to be made, said Jeffers, will total approximately as follows: Raisin growers, $5,000,000; prune and apricot growers, $2,500,000; rice growers, $1,500,000; canned fruit and vegetable interests, $1,500,000.

CHANGE MEETING TIME

The directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will hold their regular weekly meeting tomorrow at Jensen's Egyptian Village at 12, noon, as the members of the board wish to attend the benefit performance for the fire victims at the Tuesday Afternoon club in the evening.

One-fourth the golf balls used in the United States, or 3,140,000 with a value of $1,297,000, are being imported from England and Scotland this year.

Hides Bank Roll in Oven, Lights Stove

SUNNYVALE (Santa Clara Co.), Nov. 5.—U. S. Treasury officials will attempt to decipher a charred roll of bills which has been recovered from a kitchen stove. The bills are charred to a point where the slightest puff would reduce them to ashes.

A prominent woman, whose name is withheld, placed the bills along with the family jewelry in the family cook stove, while she went out for the day.

The next morning she started the fire, forgetting about the money. At noon she opened the oven and found the bills charred to a crisp.

PRIZE CAMPAIGN BOOMING ALONG

Everybody Wins in Evening News Subscription Sales Club Race Now on

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager

The Glendale Evening News' big $10,500 salesmanship campaign has started off with a rush. Booming along on the wings of popularity, with the stamp of public approval already placed upon it, and with interest increasing in leaps and bounds, it is fast becoming the chief topic of conversation in Glendale and surrounding territory. Think of winning a $2,250 or $1,500 homesite, a Nash four touring car, or a Maxwell touring car, or one of the other valuable prizes that are really worth trying for!

All it takes is time devoted to subscription-getting, and those who enter the campaign and work are assured of being a winner, as this is an "EVERYBODY WINS" campaign. Think of winning a prize worth more than $2250 for just a few weeks' work, and it will not be a hard matter to win. This means practically $275 a week for your spare time.

Hundreds of people skimp and save all their lives and never accumulate an amount of money equal to the sum you can win by getting started in The Glendale Evening News' gigantic campaign and annexing the building lots, the automobiles or any of the valuable prizes.

Names Announced

The first announcement of the names of those entered in the Salesmanship club appeared in last Saturday's issue of The Glendale Evening News. This marked the real beginning of the race for the rich prizes. The gates are open and every active participant has the right of way. By looking over the list of club members entered you very likely saw the name of a friend or acquaintance whom you would like to see win one of the grand capital prizes. The number of credits cast for each member will be printed in Wednesday's issue of this paper. Watch for it.

The first official standing of the club members will no doubt create a larger interest than ever before. Who will have their names at the top of the list will be the question of the hour. Any one may do so if they will get busy and work for the credits and subscriptions.

Club members who wish to show their friends that they are real contenders should get busy right away and make the best showing possible. All credits received up to Tuesday night at 5:30 will be published in Wednesday's paper.

The first part of this campaign is the best for all who enter, as the largest number of credits are given for the subscriptions during

TODAY—American Indians in London; Kipling on Emigration.

By LUTHER A. HUSTON,
For International News Service

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Back in primeval days the eternal snows of the mountains and the winds and rains of the North American prairies had few terrors for the dauntless Redskins who ruled the domain. The name of the American Indian came to be synonymous with physical ability to endure climatic hardships.

But the aborigine of that bygone day never had to endure the well-known and justly celebrated climate of London. The 27 Arapahoe Indians now appearing in London in connection with the showing of an American film depicting frontier life are here to tell the breathlessly waiting world they didn't.

Said 27 Arapahoes same to London when the semblance of Summer still smiled on the British Isles. All confidently they viewed the landscape and observed the meteorological indications.

"Waw ne shogun skookum," remarked Chief Goes-in-the-Lodge, leader of the band. Which, being translated roughly, means: "This is going to be pretty soft for anyone who has been accustomed to a hardboiled American Winter."

So the optimistic braves, with their squaws and papooses, pitched their tepees in the "wide open spaces" of the Crystal Palace grounds. To those who remarked that the climate might seem different to them when the rains began, they scornfully answered that if they could stand the snows of America they could stand the rains of England. So they "dug in" as it were, for the Winter, and the campfires glowed merrily in front of the wick-i-ups of the Redskins.

But eventually it did start to rain. After a few practice showers it began to settle down and show what a really conscientious English rain is like. The wind joined hands with the water and leveled some of the tepees. Nothing like this had ever been experienced by the rugged Arapahoes.

White Bull, one of the bravest of the braves, cast a weather eye over the dripping horizon and concluded that the rain had all the appearances of being as permanent as the pyramids.

"Osky oompah wenatchee siskiyou pottawatamie pronto," he remarked, the most succinct translation of which is: "We are going away from here quick."

"How would you like," said White Bull when telling about it afterward, "to be cooking in the middle of your tent and have the water come in and trickle down amongst the food? It absolutely ruins the cooking. And I defy anyone to get a restful sleep in a tepee that is swaying in an English gale and likely to turn upside down at any minute."

So the Indians forsook their wigwams and found refuge in a Bloomsbury boarding house next to it, or just around the corner. But the one the Arapahoes found was like unto a sumptuous palace to the weather-weary Redskins.

Having had an opportunity to compare an English Winter with an American one, the Indians now admit that they can understand why the Pilgrim fathers left England and fought the Redman for possession of America.

The British Empire is now the golden land of opportunity for the emigrant and offers greater opportunities for success than any other nation in the world, according to Rudyard Kipling. Britons have no need, Kipling declares, to go outside their own Empire in search of a chance to better their condition.

Kikling's views on England's emigration problems were set forth in a letter he addressed to Commissioner Lamb, of the Salvation Army. Commissioner Lamb is in charge of the colonization work of the Army, which carries out an elaborate programme of recruiting emigrants to the British dominion and colonies and endeavors to look after the welfare of those who leave the mother country for distant parts of the Empire.

"There never was an Empire," Kipling wrote, "that offered such opportunities to all men as ours, and I sometimes think that there never was an Empire whose people took less advantage of those opportunities."

Kipling strongly urges that the Salvation Army take the initiative in a campaign to induce the hardiest and most adventurous type of Englishman to leave England and seek new homes in distant parts of the Empire. He disagrees with those who see peril for England in sending its best blood to the daminions.

"There is a type of man, as there is of family," Kipling says, "which only needs to be taken out of England to adapt itself to a new land as a trout takes to a new brook; but there are not very many of them, and in England they sometimes live on the outskirts of good reputation—a quick, acquisitive, not too truthful breed, enormously satisfied with themselves. But they are a splendid cross on slower blood in the second generation."

Kipling then advacates that Commissioner Lamb devote the energies of his organization to an attempt to reach these people.

"Of course," he continues, "the cry would go up that 'you are draining England of its best blood,' but isn't there something to be said for the idea of drafting out the first eleven and so giving the second eleven a chance."

Kipling approves of the Salvation Army plan with which involves the establishment of centers in the donfinions and colonies where the emigrant is taken and instructed and familiarized with the ways and customs of the new country before he is sent out "on his own" to establish an independent home in the new land.

Of one thing, however, Kipling is firmly convinced, and that is that it is not necessary for Britons to go outside the territory under their own flag to find the opportunities for happiness and success that old world conditions deny to them.

PICKS BABIES FOR SOUVENIRS

Nora Bayes, Stage Star, Adopts New Orphan

Nora Bayes with "Peter" her newest adopted boy, and, inset, Peter in a different mood.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Every tourist in a foreign land faces the task of deciding what to take home for a souvenir. Every incoming ship shows the result of their worry. Everything from fancy canes and foxy pipes to Abysinnian kazizzits and Persian dukes is dragged ashore.

But Nora Bayes, famous stage star and one of the most consistent Atlantic trotters, has found the solution of the souvenir business. She brings a baby home every trip. She has just returned for the winter season with her third adopted orphan.

When the other feminine passengers on board her ship trotted down the gang plank with foxy swagger sticks, Moroccan monkeys and ivory replicas of the first Greek shoe shiner, Miss Bayes carried in her arms a two-year-old bundle of humanity with all the sunshine that fate tried to snuff out of his life just sparkling in his baby eyes.

She found him in a British foundling home. Both his parents are dead. But from now on "Peter" as she has named him, will know Miss Bayes as "mama" and that will satisfy him.

The two other children Nora already call hers are Norman and Leanora. Both are now living in New York with all the luxuries that the successful stage favorite can bestow upon them—including unstinted love.

On the Spur of the Moment

PARTING IS SUCH SWEET SORROW

'Tis hard to say farewell, old column.
Seven years we've been together,
Through the blitheful days and solemn,
Through the punk and pleasant weather.

'Tis sadness in my heart that speaks,
I'm wrung by deep and stinging pain.
I'm sad because, in just three weeks,
I must come back to you again.

R. K. M.

—and this tendency of our time is so grave that it threatens the very existence of organized society, when any class becomes so numerous or powerful that it can force its will upon the Government, not through the ballot box, but through its control over the necessities of life.' Then the Government in that respect exists in form and not in name, and such a nation has been bolshevized. Bolshevism means the rule of the majority, but in its practical operation, as seen in Petrograd, it is the rule of a class. Of all oligarches, that of a class is the most hateful.

Organization Rights Unquestioned

"No one now questions the right of labor to organize, to act collectively, even to strike by concert of action to compel the employer to recognize the demands of the employe. But this right, as all rights, is not absolute, and Government would indeed be impotent if it could not prevent the arbitrary use of such power. An equal power must exist to prevent the right to strike from degenerating into an exercise of tyranny subversive of the equal rights of other people and of the states.

"Who can underestimate the peril? If the labor leaders who control mining and transportation can deny to the people coal and food, unless their arbitrary demands are met, there is an end of free government. And yet when a brave attorney general said this a year ago he was rewarded by sneers.

"I have dwelt upon the disintegrating tendencies of direct action, whether by organizations of capital or labor, as it seems to me the most serious menace to the perpetuity of our Constitution."

Germany is now succeeding in printing marks fast enough to pay the men's salaries who run the printing presses. That is a hopeful sign.

OUR OWN AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

It never pays to fool a hen with a china egg, for when the hen finds out the deception it is peeved. There is no greater nuisance around a farm than a grouchy hen, for, when a hen acquires a pessimistic mood, it not only refuses to lay, but will dig up more dirt in a day than three hired men with spring-tooth harrows.

Any farmer who drives his cows to water in the daytime when everybody can see him do it is plainly taking a long chance. There are a lot of boobs in this country who believe, when they see a cow drinking water, that the milk is watered in that way. It is not even safe to have a pump anywhere in sight around a dairy farm.

One of the best ways for a farmer to get rid of his money is to follow the instructions given by the "farm expert" who sits in a city office and writes farm articles for some magazine. There isn't an expert of this kind in the country who knows enough about farm life to get along with one gallus.

Who remembers when a dime's worth of bad whiskey made a dollar's worth of good tonic?

"TENDENCY TO ORGANIZE 'CLASSES' IS PERIL TO U. S.," SAYS SOLICITOR GENERAL

Calling the Constitution of the United States the greatest hope of the world for true democracy and pleading for its preservation, U. S. Solicitor General J. M. Beck recently declared that it was seriously menaced by the growing tendencies of individual classes to try to seize power. Free government would come to an end, he asserted, if any group could enforce its demands by denying food or coal to the people.

HON. J. M. BECK

In the last quarter century, Mr. Beck said, every fundamental principle of the Constitution "had been challenged by political parties and leaders, and many Americans were now calling the Constitution antiquated and an obstacle to progress." He continued:

"The representative principle has been challenged in twenty-two states of the Union by the initiative and the referendum.

"The principle of home rule has been subverted by a steady submergence of the states, which has now made of them a little more than glorified police provinces.

"The guaranty of individual liberty has been violated by many socialistic measures, while property rights are destroyed from time to time by confiscatory legislation.

Organized Classes

"The independence of the judiciary is menaced by many provisions for the recall of both judges and of judicial decisions and the fatal impairment of the power of the Supreme Court.

"Alarming as are these tendencies, infinitely more portentious is the shifting of power from the Government to organized classes

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CREAM CAKE

"Hello, Nurse Jane, what are doing?" called a voice in through the kitchen window of the hollow stump bungalow one day.

"Oh, how you surprised me!" exclaimed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I thought it was Uncle Wiggily and I didn't want him to know about it."

"Know about what?" asked the voice of Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy, for it was he had spoken.

"I didn't want Uncle Wiggily to know about this cake I am Makin," explained Nurse Jane. "It's to be sort of a surprise for him, and when you called to me in through the window I was afraid it was Mr. Longears coming back frm his adventure trip before it was time."

"Is he off adventuring?" asked Jackie.

"Yes, and he may be back any moment, so I must hurry to finish this cake."

"I don't s'pose—I mean maybe do you think—I mean—now—would there be any cake left over do you think?" stammered Jackie.

"Cake left over from what?" Nurse Jane wanted to know.

"I mean any—now—that Uncle Wiggily wouldn't want," said the puppy dog boy, "I like cake, Nurse Jane."

"Bless your little black nose—of course, you do!" laughed the muskrat lady. "Well, here is some for you."

So she gave Jackie a slice from another cake, and the muskrat lady put up on the shelf the one she had baked for the rabbit gentleman.

"I guess I'll stay here a while and wait for Uncle Wiggily to come back from adventuring," barked Jackie as he scrambled up into a chair. "Maybe he might want me to help him eat his surprise cake."

"Maybe!" laughed Nurse Jane, and then she went about doing her work in the hollow stump bungalow, while Jackie sat watching the rabbit gentleman's cake.

After a while Jackie saw a bowl of something white and frothy on a shelf near a looking glass in the kitchen.

"Oh, that's whipped cream!" thought the puppy boy. "It must be some whipped cream that Nurse Jane made for Uncle Wiggily's cake. But she forgot to put it on. I'll do it for her. Uncle Wiggily likes cream cake, I know. And, so do I."

So, thinking he was helping, Jackie took the white, frothy stuff that was in a bowl by the looking glass, and spread it all over Uncle Wiggily's cake. I mean he spread the white creamy stuff on the cake, not the looking glass, you know. Gracious! I should say not! That would be funny; wouldn't it.

"There! Now I've made a fine cream cake!" laughed Jackie softly to himself, and once more he sat down in a chair to wait for Uncle Wiggily to return home.

"For he might want some one to help him eat his cream cake," thought the little puppy dog boy.

It grew more and more quiet in the hollow stump bungalow, for Nurse Jane was sweeping in the upstairs rooms. Jackie's head began to nod first to one side, and then to the other side and—before he knew it—he—was—fast—asleep!

It was just about this time that the Bad Bob Cat, having left his den in the dark, dismal woods came to the hollow stump bungalow looking for something to eat.

"I'll nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears—that's what I'll do," growled the Bob Cat from the den in the dark, dismal woods. He looked in the open kitchen window of the hollow stump bungalow—the Bad Bob Cat did—and the first he saw sleeping Jackie and then he saw the cream cake.

"I'll eat the cream cake first," growled the Bad Bob Cat from the dark, dismal woods.

So, creeping softly in through the window, the Bob Cat took a big, impolite bite from the cream cake. First the Bob Cat was smiling and then a queer look came over his face and his whiskers curled.

"Oh, wow," he howled, holding his paws on his stomach. "What a queer taste! Oh, I'm poisoned! Oh, what a queer cream cake! Wowzie! Zoop!" and out the window he jumped.

Jackie awakened with a start just as Uncle Wiggily came hopping home from his adventures.

"What was the matter with that Bob Cat who jumped from the window, Jackie?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Why," said Jackie, "Nurse Jane made you a cake and I put cream on it, and the Bob Cat must have eaten it. But I don't see why he howled so."

Uncle Wiggily picked up off the floor a little piece of the cream cake dropped by the Bob Cat. The rabbit smelled of the cream on the cake and then tasted it with the tip of his tongue.

"Oh, Zowie!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "No wonder the Bob Cat howled, Jackie! Why, you put some of my shaving soap lather on the cake instead of cream. That was shaving soap in the bowl, not whipped cream! Oh, Ha! Ha Bless my pink nose! The Bob Cat ate shaving soap!"

He looked in the open kitchen window

"Well, I'm glad he did!" barked Jackie. Then Nurse Jane made another cake for the bunny gentleman and this time real cream was put on it and Jackie had some. So it came out right after all.

And if the egg beater doesn't jump up and down in the rice pudding and make the raisins turn somersaults, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the mud puddle.

The newly elected members of the executive board of the high school student body are as follows: Horace Albright, Hasty Bidwell, Don Packer, Chase Story, Dorothy Hobbs, Dorothy Lee and Helen Mosher.

Upon suggestion of T. W. Watson, prseident of the board of trustees, Wednesday, November 5, is declared a holiday in Glendale on account of the aqueduct exercises.

The contractors are moving along at a slow gait with the street work on Brand boulevard. The greatest holdback thus far seems to be the small capacity of the concrete mixer they are using. The work will be finished next May.

Dinner Stories

"Gentleman," said the secretary, according to the Cornell Widow, "is it the sense of this committee that the people for whom we have been working are quite dissatisfied with our work as done?"

"Yes," thundered the members of the committee.

"And do they agree that we have done everything as poorly and as expensively as possible?"

"Yes," again.

"And they are all of the opinion that they don't like to squawk but they could have done better themselves?"

Again the unanimous response was in the affirmative.

"Then," continued the secretary, "we have fulfilled the duties of the perfect committee We will now go to have our picture taken, after which will take place the committee dinner, at which the shingles, watch charms and gold cigarette cases will be given out."

It is unfortunate that another "tuberculosis cure" is reaching the laity through the lay press. Judging from past experiences, it will mean millions for the promoters but disappointment for the victims.

A man may be down in the mouth, but he is never out of something to crab about.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

The Amount of Food Needed Per Day, No. I.

Last week we reviewed each member of the famous Food Sextet (proteins, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins, mineral elements, and water), and have more thoroughly impressed on our minds the place of each in the diet. Now, we must talk about the total amount of all of them together that we will have to have for each day.

The daily amount of food needed by a child or adult depends upon age, size, weight, activity, temperament, season, and possibly sex. The unit we use for measurment is the calorie. We have to have a unit of this sort, for we cannot measure the need for food by bulk or weight, in their concentration and energy value. For instance:

An ounce of oil contains approximately 250 units of energy value, and an ounce of lettuce contains but five. You can see the necessity for a standard unit of measurement of energy value from this comparison. It has been determined by many experiments how many calories are needed per pound of body weight for all ages. Now let us discuss each factor a little.

Age

The most rapidly growing period of life is the first year, when the infant should double its birth weight in the first five months and treble it by the end of the year. So, during this period more calories of food per pound of body weight are needed than at any other period.

At puberty—the beginning of adult life—and three or four years after puberty (adolescence), there is also a very rapid growth. So the food intake at this period must be very large to cover the needs.

One of the most notable studies of the foods needed by schoolboys, from 12 to 17 years old was that made by Gebhardt, who studied the boys at St. Paul's school, New Haven, for a year. He found that the amount of food consumed by these normal, very active, healthy boys was enormous, especially during the very cold weather. It was around 5000 calories per day per boy! Over 50 per cent more than needed by the average adult.

DuBois found in boys from 12 to 13 that their food needs during complete rest was 75 per cent more than that of healthy adults.

Where do they store it? Those of you who have boys and girls at these ages don't need Gebhardt and DuBois to tell you about their enormous appetites. How many times have you said they were eating you out of house and home? You will be comforted to know that this is not abnormal; it really represents a physiological need during this very active adolescent growing period. They don't store it long! It is used very rapidly in their internal, external and eternal activities.

Needless to say, children will over-eat for their needs at times, especially of foods they like, and especially if they are rapid eaters, and do not masticate their food sufficiently. And they suffer for it. This, of course, should be discouraged. If their enormous appetites lead to overweight, you can be sure they are over-eating, and this also must be discouraged. It rarely happens that over-eating in general tends to underweight, so you don't need to worry about that.

Tomorrow:—Amount of Food Needed Per Day, No. II.

The skirt is trimmed with a knee-deep plaited ruffle, while the waist, neck and the long sleeves have circular cuffs of self-material. This model may be carried out in the silk crepes or satin, but no more fashionable color than black may be selected. Medium size requires 5½ yards 36-inch crepe.

Poiret twill, which refuses to take a back seat for the loveliest of the new woolens, fashions the second frock, which has the side panels of the skirt buttoned onto the front gore. The front of the blouse is slashed down the center, after which each side is turned back to form a rever. Collar and vestee are of self-material, the bit of color being supplied in the embroidered motif under the inserted pocket on the waist. Medium size repuires 2 3-4 yards 54-inch twill.

Beauty Chats

CHARACTER OF THE COIFFURE

The smartness of the coiffure is a secondary matter. The only thing that counts is its becomingness. Styles of hair dressing are so varied that any attractive way of doing the hair is sure to be in good fashion.

But when I say "becoming" I mean a little more than that the hair should look attractive around the face. Probably any one of half a dozen styles would be that. Your hair dressing should suggest character.

This is a subject on which I can give only the vaguest advice. If the manner of dressing your hair is a problem to you it is one that you must solve for yourself. If you go to a hair dresser she may have some really valuable suggestions, but she may also, being prejudiced in favor of wavings and intricacies of styles and coiffures, do you your hair in some elaborate fashion that would be quite out of character.

First decide for yourself what your type is. If you are the sweet, sensible, womanly sort whose face charms because of its clear skin and sympathetic expression, then the simple unwaved coiffure, with a parting in the middle or the side and a loose knot at the back, is probably a good choice.

If you are quite small and slender, and either young or youngish, with a thin, bright little face, you will probably look very attractive with your hair cut off short, and either slightly waved or else perfectly straight.

If you are very pretty and wear your dresses smartly and go in for frilly dance frocks and the fashionable exaggerations of each season, then you'll look best with the hair waved and piled in some elaborate coiffure on your head.

Decide on your type first, then dress your hair and choose your clothes to suit that type. Don't copy your best friend's hair dressing just because you like it.

Mrs. W. H. N.: Among the available bleaches are those made from the juices of vegetables and fruit, such as tomato, cucumber, lemon or strawberry.

As your daughter is still growing you need have no apprehension concerning her height.

Helen G. W.: There is no impropriety in young girls wearing socks with sports clothes. I am referring to those that come just below the knee cap, where they are rolled over a garter.

A girl of 21 years, height five feet eight and a half inches should weigh about 130 pounds. If you can hold yourself as well without corsets as when you have them on, there is no reason for wearing them.

Does your hair suit your face?

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Minced Ham on Toast—Put cooked, left-over ham through your food chopper, then measure it. To each cupful add the yolk of one hard-boiled egg mashed. Season the mixture with salt and pepper to suit taste, and also add a little butter. Turn all into a hot frying pan and let cook till hot through, stirring constantly. Then heap the hot hash on buttered slices of toast and serve at once.

Potato Cakes with Egg—Bake large potatoes till very tender, then peel and mash well. Measure, and to each cupful allow the yolks of one egg cooked till mealy and then mashed and mixed with one-half cup of sweet milk. Add salt to season, and form the mixture into small, flat cakes with the hands. Place these cakes on greased baking pans and brown for fifteen minutes in a medium oven. Serve hot.

Lentil Soup—Wash one cupful (one-half pound) of lentils, then soak them overnight in cold water to cover well. In the morning drain and put them into a saucepan with six cups of water, bring to the boiling point, and skim well. Add the following ingredients: Three stalks of dried celery, one chopped onion, one chopped carrot, one chopped turnip, a small piece of bay leaf, one teaspoon of whole peppers, one stale crust of bread finely ground, one teaspoon of salt and a sprig or two of parsley.

Let this mixture simmer for one and one-half hours, then strain it through a wide-meshed sieve, rubbing through as much of the chopped vegetables as possible. Set this aside while you make the following mixture: Melt two tablespoons of butter in a large saucepan, rub into it one heaping teaspoonful of flour, add one cup of milk and let simmer for four minutes, stirring constantly. Now add the soup to this thickening, and season to taste with salt and pepper.

When you serve it, put a little cream or rich top milk into each individual soup plate, then pour the hot soup on top of it (using not more than one-half cup of the cream for each plate). Note—In boiling the soup, before combining it with the thickening, it may be necessary to add a little hot water from time to time as the liquid evaporates. Keep it the consistency of top milk.

Carrots a la Pompadour—Butter a baking dish and put in the bottom two cups of cooked, sliced carrots. Add a layer of two cups of cooked, sliced potatoes. Then pour over all the following sauce: Melt two heaping tablespoons of butter in a saucepan, rub in two tablespoons of flour, add one cup of sweet milk, one cup of rich top milk, two tablespoons of grated cheese and salt and pepper to season. Sprinkle buttered crumbs on top and bake for ten minutes in a hot oven.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am seventeen and would like to know whether its proper for a girl to become engaged at this age. I go to school and it is my parents' wish to have me finish school. Although I dearly love this young man he seems doubtful of my love for him. He says if I loved him I would become engaged at once, knowing that my parents do not object.

I am having a party next week. Do you think that a convenient time to announce our engagement? Kindly advise me what to do as I am perplexed. PEGGY.

You are very young to become engaged. My advice is to finish school and then if you still love the man announce your engagement. An engagement is a serious matter and should not be entered into lightly. Since you are so very young you cannot be really sure of your love.

If you disagree with me and become engaged in spite of your youth, there is no reason why you should not announce your betrothal the night of your party.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a lonely girl. My mother has been dead three years. I am seventeen years old. Do you think I am too young to go with boys? I have been going with a boy one year. He is eighteen years old. I don't go to the show or out on rides and he is the only boy I go with. He comes to see me on Sunday afternoon and always brings me home from church.

Some of my friends have told me things about him to try to break up our friendship. Besides going to church on Sunday he goes to prayer meeting on Wednesday. I have always found him the best kind of boy. Do you think there is any reason why I should give him up? H. B. G.

Not knowing the boy, or the criticisms your friends have made regarding his character, I am in no position to advise you. Since you have known him for a year, however, and found him to be all right, you have no reason to give him up unless you feel your friends have been fair and are justified in interfering with your friendship because of his conduct when away from you.

Mrs. C. C. E.: I am very sorry that I cannot oblige you. It is contrary to the policy of this column to advertise such companies as you mention. I know nothing about the machine which you mention, but would suggest that you talk to the buyer in the sock department of some store. He will be able to help you decide whether or not it would be advisable to invest so much money in the machine.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my senior year at high school. I go with a boy my own age who is considered a very nice boy and has excellent manners. I am very fond of him, but he has no pep and goes around with a sleepy expression on his face. Everybody makes fun of him for that reason and because he is so slow. That hurts me and I hate to have him like that.

Could he change? Should I mention it to him? Q. E. M.

Yes, the boy can change and probably will when he is older. I would advise you to appreciate him for his good qualities and not criticise him because he is not wide awake. You may be sure that he is told by many people of his fault. You might help him by suggesting things which would wake him up. Try to get him interested in out of door sports and a more active life.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Mrs. Kate Trenholm Abrams sailed for Europe recently to gather detailed information of the work of women's organizations and their effect on legislation. She also expected to attend the sessions of the assembly of the League of Nations in Geneva in which she is much interested.

Mrs. Kate Trenholm Abrams

Mrs. Abrams is well known in Washington. Her grandfather, George A. Trenholm was secretary of the treasury in the cabinet of Jefferson Davis.

BEAUTY CONTEST DISAPPOINTS ARTIST

Penrhyn Stanlaws, chairman of the judges in the Atlantic City beauty contest, said, after observing the seventy-four candidates:

"In this contest I have not seen one girl who is a real representative of the true American girl—tive og the true American girl. There must be found some way to presuade the real American girl—the college type, for instance—to enter a contest of this kind, if the real beauties of young American womanhood are to be found."

WORTH OF FARMER'S WIFE

"If you had to pay the farm wife a salary based on her actual worth, she could command at least $3,800 a year, as seamstress, laundress, cook, nurse, assistant hired man, general manager and several other tasks," declares Professor Ruby Green Smith of Cornell.

THE PRESIDENTIAL VOTE

The second presidential vote since the adoption of the suffrage amendment to the constitution of the United States should show the influence of the woman voter, according to the editor of "Good Housekeeping, W. F. Bigelow. He plans this winter to take a poll of the membership of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to ascertain the choice of its 2,000,000 women for president. The proposal, with restrictions, has the endorsement of the officers of the General Federation, according to their official organ, "General Federation News."

Community Loyalty Expresses Itself in Deeds for the Good of the Community

Glendale has a good name (a "jewel of the soul" as important to a city as an individual), and her reputation is in the keeping of her people. As long as Glendalians jealousy guard the good name of their city, people from other parts will have a wholesome respect for us and want to become of us. When citizens blacken the character of the home city outsiders cannot be expected to have any respect for it.

Community Loyalty has been one of the big causes contributing to Glendale's growth in population and importance. Community Loyalty expresses itself in deeds as well as in words.

When you go out of town to buy things you could buy as well at home, you are giving Glendale a bad name. You might as well say, "Glendale is all right but her stores are no good." When you buy in Glendale you are putting your money where it has a chance to do something for Glendale and you are saying in effect, "Glendale has a trading center on a par with cities of much larger population."

It has been conceded by those who give the science of merchandising considerable thought that the Glendale merchants on the whole are holding up their end of the burden of making Glendale a splendid business center. Glendale has developed a merchandising center that has become as notable as her homes.

The people on this page are trying to protect Glendale's good name by conducting places of business and rendering service worthy of the fastest growing city in the United States.

Your trade has helped them and thereby helped to foster Glendale's reputation as a business center. They thank you and ask that co-operation may continue—that citizens and merchants work together for a Greater Glendale, a Glendale famed for every good thing that enters into the making of a great city.

THIS page appears in The Glendale Evening News once a week. On another page is a classified index which explains the location of the cards on this page. The building of a greater community sentiment is the purpose of this page. Co-operation between the merchant and the buyer put into actual practice is a community builder.

EAGLE ROCK

DAHLIA SHOW TO BE PERPETUATED

1924 Exhibit Plans Outlined on Bigger Scale by Bloom Growers

At a meeting held in the city hall on East Colorado boulevard Saturday night, steps were taken to perpetuate the annual Dahlia Show that for the past two years has attracted a great deal of favorable attention to this community.

Practically all members of the dahlia committee of the Women's Twentieth Century club were present, together with a number of other local people interested in the culture of this beautiful bloom.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. C. W. Young, who has been a leader in the Eagle Rock dahlia movement. As a result of this co-ordination of effort, the 1924 Dahlia Show will stand on its own feet and will be bigger and better than ever, was the concensus of opinion following the meeting.

Enjoys Eightieth Birthday

Sunday, November 4, marked the eightieth milestone along the path of Mrs. N. L. Crosby of 5212 Rowland avenue. Many friends called on the aged woman, who was assisted in receiving guests by her three daughters, Mrs. W. H. Benson, Mrs. Jessie Osborne and Miss Fannie Crosby.

Members of the Women's Twentieth Century club have been invited by the North Highland Park Women's club to be present at the York theatre at 2:30 o'clock the afternoon of November 7, when Mrs. Charles H. Toll of Glendale, president of the Los Angeles district federation, will speak.

"Drafting the Constitution of the United States" was the subject of a paper read by Mrs. Charles Barnett of this community, before the opening fall meeting of the D. A. R., held last Friday in Los Angeles. The greeting was given by Mrs. John C. Shedd.

P.-T. A. Board Meets

The board of directors of the Eagle Rock Parent-Teacher association will meet tonight at 7:45 o'clock in the school library, when matters of importance will be discussed, announces Mrs. J. C. Reiter, president.

The brick store and apartment building being erected by Mrs. J. C. Brayton on Central avenue just north of Colorado boulevard will have over the archway an American eagle with spread wings extending eighteen inches, illuminated at night. The structure will be completed by January 1, the builder states.

Mrs. Gladys Stewart has severed her connection as soloist at the Presbyterian church, owing to the fact that she lives in the main Los Angeles district and is very busy with her vocal studies.
